Campus Notes

COMMENCEMENT 1949 was a grand occasion — around 600 alumnae returned to enjoy class reunion lunches, a stimulating business meeting and the alumnae supper. Alumnae Day was filled with enthusiasm, chats with old friends, renewed friendships, pledges of loyalty and support, and a show of great pride in the Woman's College.

Highlight of the business meeting Saturday afternoon was the presence of Senator and Mrs. Frank Graham. Dr. Graham's message to the alumnae was filled with inspiration and hope and encouragement. As is always the case, he gave the alumnae thoughts to take away with them about pertinent national and state problems. It was a particular pleasure to have Mrs. Graham with us. Her charm and graciousness make her presence an addition to any occasion.

THE ALUMNAE SUPPER attended by more than 400 Alumnae, guests and faculty, was most enjoyable. Sarah Poole Cartland catered and plans for the supper were made and executed by Anne Fulton Carter and her social committee. Daisy chain Sophomores helped with the serving and tables were filled throughout the house, on the upstairs and downstairs porches and out on the lawn back of the House.

ALUMNAE EXHIBIT: One of the most interesting features of Commencement was the exhibit of dresses, scrapbooks, pictures, annuals, etc., throughout the Alumnae House. The exhibit was planned and put up by Ellen Griffin, Dorothy Clement, Elizabeth Hathaway, Agnes Cox, and Valerie (Powell) Jones.

OPEN HOUSE at the Alumnae House from Friday night through Monday noon was made an enjoyable occasion by members of the faculty who served as hosts and hostesses.

It was a grand commencement — the only thing wrong was that all of you could not come.

BUILDING PROGRAM: Woman's College campus is taking on the "new look" rapidly. The new Library begins to look like a real building, and the two new residence halls, located between Kirkland and Weil-Winfield, is a mass of steel.

Renovation of the dining halls will be complete when college opens in September; plans for the Home Economics addition, Science Building, Physical Education Building, and Student Union are in the hands of the architects.

Administration Building has had her face lifted with paint and new furnishings, and several changes have been made in office locations.

CORRECTION: Through error, the May issue of the ALUMNAE NEWS in the article on the Graduate Program, failed to list graduate work in Elementary Education. A number of students have received masters degrees in this field in years past, and this year eleven degrees were granted.

FOUNDER'S DAY BROADCAST

AS THE ALUMNAE NEWS goes to press plans are being made to broadcast the Founder's Day Program, Wednesday, October 5th, over the Dixie FM Network. Simultaneous meetings of alumnae chapters will be held to hear the program.

Mr. D. Hiden Ramsey, editor of the Asheville Citizen-Times, will be the main speaker, and Mrs. John Sockwell, Jr., president of the Alumnae Association, will participate. Chancellor W. C. Jackson will preside and the College Choir, under the direction of George M. Thompson, will repeat the Litany.

Make your plans now to attend your local chapter meeting.

Arrangements for the broadcast are being made through Mr. Gaines Kelley, Manager of Station WFMY in Greensboro.

Receive Honorary Degrees from the Woman's College

At its fifty-seventh annual Commencement, the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina conferred honorary degrees on the three outstanding women pictured above. From left to right, Mrs. Inglis Fletcher, Doctor of Literature; Miss Katherine Anne Porter, Doctor of Literature; and Miss Mary E. Leeper, Doctor of Education. In awarding the honorary degrees, Chancellor Walter Clinton Jackson cited the outstanding work and significant contributions of these women:

"Miss Mary E. Leeper, pioneer educator and champion of children . . . Every act of her adult life, every office she has held, every project she has directed, has been in the interest of children . . . Her vision of education as guidance and schools as theatres of opportunity, has heartened thousands of teachers."

"Miss Katherine Anne Porter, foremost American short story writer . . . Katherine Anne Porter has made an invaluable contribution to American writing. She is one of the most accomplished of contemporary American writers. She is indeed, the best American short story writer at work today."

"Mrs. Inglis Fletcher, distinguished novelist of North Carolina . . . A writer of international recognition, a traveler of warm and intelligent perception, a creative historian and a loyal citizen of the Old North State."

Introducing the President of the Alumnae Association 1949-1951

MRS. JOHN E. SOCKWELL, JR.

(Mary Jane Wharton '31) who was president of the Student Government Association in 1930-'31 and is everlasting president of her class.

Mrs. Sockwell was awarded the Weil Fellowship in 1931 and received her Ph.D. degree in zoology from Yale University in 1936. She is a member of the Woman's College Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa and taught biology at the Fieldston School and Brearley School in New York City. Her husband is president of the Bank of Greensboro and they have two children, Ann Wharton Thayer 6, and John Edgar Sockwell III, 8. She is a past president of the New York Alumnae Chapter and works with P.T.A., civic and church groups.

Barbara Apostolacus Speaks for Seniors

COMMENCEMENT 1949

The address of Barbara Apostolacus, Long Branch, N. J., who represented the Class of 1949 at the Commencement Exercises Monday, May 30, 1949, in Aycock Auditorium follows.

Today marks the end of our four years at the Woman's College—the end of four years of being integrated into a body of persons with common interests and corporate functions, of learning not only how to make a living, but also how to live. But more important, this is a beginning as well as an ending. It is our commencement. It is the time for us to move into the large and more complex society of the world, a less well-integrated body, where we can begin fulfilling the responsibility of educated persons. It is time for us to move from our community where life is stable and happy, where values are high, and where there is a spirit of unselfishness and obedience, to a world whose peoples often have a twisted sense of values, an undercurrent of fear, and a perilous suspicion of each other, but who are, nevertheless, tenaciously struggling for peace among themselves and other groups.

We entered Woman's College at the close of World War II when our people possessed mixed feelings of thanksgiving, hatred, fear, and uncertainty. New scientific discoveries demanded a change in our values and a new respect for man in relation to the material. We have watched the outcome of the plans for peace from a situation where established self-government was being constantly tested. We discovered that human nature is full of frailty, that freedom has its limitations, that justice is often an elusive entity, that cooperation is to be secured only as a result of infinite patience and pains. But we discovered much more—that the sense of triumph which followed the painful striving for these things was worth many times the price we paid. As a result of our efforts, we come to know something of what it means as free individuals to resolve our differences and to reach worthy ends. From this experience we have formed a wholesome outlook toward obedience, a respect for, and confidence in, others, a personal responsibility for the welfare of the group, a faith in our fellows and a trust in God.

Here at the Woman's College, we have been taught by learned people. But these people have done more than teach us; they have followed through by guiding us. In their interest in our corporate life and in us as individuals, they have influenced the other part of our education—designed to unify our knowledge and apply it to worthy so-

A LETTER FROM YOUR PRESIDENT

Dear Alumnae:

This column belongs to Gibby Satterfield and I wish that we could persuade her to continue it. So much has been accomplished during her two years in office and so many other worthwhile things have been started that our association owes her a great debt. We new officers are most pleased that she serves on the Board for another year, where her ideas and her advice will be invaluable.

It was wonderful to see so many of you at Commencement. There were 635 of us returning for one or more of the reuniting festivities. I felt honored and pleased to be a part of such a loyal group and am deeply thrilled at the possibilities for service inherent in the office you have given me. I am grateful for your early support, interest and cooperation, and feel sure that with the help of Betty Jester and Evon Dean and the encouragement of Dr. Jackson and Katherine Taylor, we can all work together for the growth and development of our College and of our association. To me the association means the College. Fundamentally, aren't the two one and the same?

Your new Board has begun making plans for another year. Many suggestions have been made; some ideas discussed, but everything boils down to the same basic fact each time—we need funds. As Gibby explained in her letter to you in February '48, our association is not yet a financially independent organization. Out of a possible 26,000 we have only 2,576 contributing members. We can do very little toward fellowships, scholarships or a chapel unless more of us can take an active part. The thousands of silent alumnae and the hundreds of "lost" ones must surely not be willing to sever their connection with this association which is the closest link to the College. We are all needed by our alma mater. Let us all try to awaken interest among our alumnae friends and corral them into the fold during the coming months.

Do remember that your Board is interested in hearing from you. Please write us any suggestions which you may have or any questions which you would like answered. We can easily use this space for questions and answers.

Yours sincerely,

Jane Wharton Sockwell '31

President.

Recipients of Fellowships and Scholarships Awarded at the Commencement Exercises

Monday, May 30, 1949

The Henry Weil Fellowship was awarded to Miss Dorothy Hahn, of Concord, a major in the Department of Biology.

The Consolidated University Fellowship was awarded to Miss Nancy Beam Funderburk, of Greensboro, a major in the history department.

The Borden Home Economics Scholarship Award went to Miss Janet Large, of Rocky Mount, a teacher education major in the department of home economics.

The Mina Weil Scholarship in the Social Sciences was awarded to Miss Eleanor Rigney, of Long Island, New York, a rising senior in the history department.

The Myrtle Spaulth Reeves Scholarship in Art was awarded to Miss Wilma King, of Greensboro, a rising senior, majoring in interior design.

The Science Scholarship Award went to Miss Hattie Thigpen, of Scotland Neck, a rising senior, majoring in chemistry.

The Martha Winfield English Scholarship was awarded to Miss Edna Lee Harper, of Kinston, a rising senior English major.

The Mendenhall Scholarship was awarded to Miss Sarah Holmes Carter, of Winston-Salem, a rising junior mathematics major.

The Phi Beta Kappa Sophomore Scholarship Award went to Miss Eleanor Robinson, of Charlotte.

Woman's College Claims First Woman Judge in N. C.

Woman's College takes great pride in another First — the appointment of Susie Sharp, class of '28, Judge of the Superior Court of North Carolina. Judge Sharp, appointed by Governor Kerr Scott, took the oath of office July 1, 1949.

Her consummate humility indicated in her question, "Who am I to judge other human beings?" is one of her finest attributes.

After attending Woman's College for two years, 1924-1926, Susie transferred to the University of North Carolina, where she completed her law degree in 1929. Since that time she has practiced law most successfully in Reidsville as a partner with her father, J. M. Sharp, in the firm of Sharp & Sharp. She is the oldest of seven children and makes her home with her parents in Reidsville.

Recalling her undergraduate years at North Carolina College for Women, Judge Sharp remarked that even though she had always wanted to be a lawyer, after studying physics and chemistry at the College, she almost changed her mind and decided to be a chemist. She recalled with pleasure her work under Miss Mary Petty, then head of the Department of Chemistry.

She was most impressed by her Freshman English teacher, who taught her the value of being individual, and says that she enjoyed her course in American History under Dr. W. C. Jackson more than any other.

Judge Sharp presided over her first court July 25 in Rockingham. "I realize," she added, "that because I am a woman, the mistakes which I will inevitably make will probably receive more attention than if made by a man. Like the blind man, I will have to work harder to come up to the standard of the ordinary, reasonably prudent man."

In discussing the responsibility of women in the world today, she said, "A woman has not fulfilled her responsibility as a citizen when she does her household chores and attends her children any more than her husband has fulfilled his responsibility when he pays the bills. A woman's responsibility is no greater, but it is just as great as that of a man. If one does not give some thought and attention to public affairs, one may soon find out that he or she has no private affairs which require attention. Women must accept and fulfill their responsibility to vote, serve on juries, boards, and to do any other task of a public nature which comes their way. If they do not, let them be forever estopped to complain about the way the country is run, justice is administered, or about the smell of politics!"

Woman's College is proud to claim North Carolina's first woman judge. Our Governor is to be congratulated on her appointment. Her fairness, her sense of justice, her ability to think with her mind, rather than her emotions, added to her personal charm, her dignity, and her professional mien, promise that we will be grateful to her for so effectively representing womanhood and the legal profession.

3,446 Libraries in North Carolina

North Carolina has 3,446 libraries containing 8,127,137 volumes, according to a graphic exhibition made in Durham at the 26th meeting of the North Carolina Library Association in April.

The exhibition of pictures and charts, prepared by Charles M. Adams, librarian of Woman's College of U. N. C. and members of his staff, pointed out that these libraries make an annual total expenditure of $2,836,077. There are 1,280 librarians in the state.

According to the exhibition report there are 237 public libraries with 1,672,142 volumes, 53 college and university libraries with 2,702,726 volumes, 3,151 school libraries reporting 3,534,562 volumes, and five special libraries containing 217,706 volumes.

The exhibition points to the need of more trained librarians in North Carolina and throughout the nation.

New W. C. Dean

Dr. Charles E. Prall, of Chicago, education specialist for the American Hospital Association, has been named Dean of the School of Education at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina. He is regarded one of the country's leading authorities in the field of teacher education and education research.

cial ends. This possession will be ours, whether we are in business or creative pursuits, in social work or foreign service, in teaching or homemaking. This "way of life" is important, not only to those few of us who may influence our national problems, but to those whose lives will be primarily devoted to personal, and family, and community life.

We, the class of nineteen-hundred and forty-nine, acknowledge our education for what it is. To Dr. Jackson, Miss Taylor, to the entire faculty, and to all who have affected it in any way, we want to prove our sincere gratitude by our application of it to the life outside college. We want to create situations in other groups where we can expand the "way of life", which we have learned at the Woman's College.

Dr. Francis P. Gaines Delivers 1949 Baccalaureate Address

Excerpts from address of Dr. Francis P. Gaines, president of Washington and Lee University, delivered Sunday, May 29, 1949, in Aycock Auditorium.

Commencement is a thrilling spectacle—the triumph of youth. No moment could be more inspiring than this recognition of young people who have completed a program of long, hard work, a program not of their making and often not of their liking, but a program which society deems the best preparation for all future destiny. The dominant emotion now in responsive hearts is one of congratulation.

Commencement is also a dramatic episode in a pageant which Americans love with peculiar passion, the pageant of education. No nation on earth, I presume, can show more outward devotion, more inner concern in behalf of the training of youth. Nowhere are there such huge investments, such large enrollments, such mighty groups of professional workers; nowhere is there more discussion of policies and processes; nowhere does education loom larger in the promises and the performance of civic leaders. It is among our supreme undertakings.

Commencement may be therefore a moment not only to applaud but also to appraise. What harvest, in largest and enduring terms, do we get from this crop which we cultivate so earnestly?

American education may be given large credit for making us the most powerful of the world's nations. The recent war manifested what many of us knew, that never before has a country had so many different people of such extraordinary competence in the mastery of matter. In mass consideration, that faculty which for lack of a better term we call the "know-how" has reached history's highest point in our current people of educational training.

It follows as a kind of corollary that education, at least in part, has given us more of what we thoughtlessly call progress, more comforts and more luxuries distributed among more people, than the world ever saw before. What would be for citizens of other nations some of the undreamed extravagances become with us the commonplace equipment for everyday living. America has been defined as the land of the gadget, but that gadget must be good and it does contribute to the ease of existence.

Still seeking the wide perspective, we record that American education has popularized and enforced the noblest political idealism ever accepted by man. The grand concepts which were born in the dreams of our wisest and which have been protected by the daring of our bravest are the common matters of American instruction. Millions of men in the recent war went forth to battle for convictions, strong if not always clear, that had been imparted by school-teachers.

It cannot be said, alas, that education has contributed greatly to the safety of the individual or of the world. The knowledge that perfected our automobile exacts a terrible toll in human life. The crooked business executive or despotic labor leader or clever demagogue is but the more dangerous because of education. The miraculous advance of scientific knowledge in certain phases is the terror of humanity today. Says one of our leading statesmen: "It is one of the paradoxes of our times that modern society has little to fear except man, and, what is worse, it needs to fear only the educated man." All Americans with the laudable passion for education might ponder long those ominous words.

Nor can it be said that education has contributed greatly to our happiness. For all our unprecedented energies of training, we remain a restless, frantic people, searching for that which we have not yet found. The production and processes of what we might call our escapism, from the best to the worst, are among our major businesses—the movie, the sporting park, the brewery, or what you will. Titles of best sellers are eloquent of what we eagerly seek—on the list recently and stubbornly have been "Peace of Mind," "How to Stop Worrying," now "Peace of Soul." The contract of the ancient sacrament of marriage—"in honor preferring one another", is harder and harder to maintain, and homes are breaking as never before. Mental cases multiply. The residue of hatred, largely a vicious consequence of war, is deep and firm within us; issues that might be themes of logical difference are bitter emotions; groups and blocs glare at each other; we think, not as the great Apostle pleaded of what is true and lovely and pure, but of what is prejudice and fury. The power of education to give us lofty and serene moods remains to be demonstrated.

Translated into individual terms, education by itself, we know, is not enough. Beyond the degree is the difficult road to a greater attainment, to the winning of an adequate philosophy of life. Without it the tensions of a human being become unendurable—a human being endowed with all hungers and fears of the animal but with the unceasing restlessness of much more, of imagination, of ranging wonder and dream, of dreadful capacity to suffer that which is not physical pain, of the unputting asizes which are conscience.

Beyond the degree there remains only the timeless, changeless power that fortifies our purposes, lightens our darkness, lifts from the heart our intolerable remorse, gives us perfect assurance of strength that is greater than our own. If I could suggest a motto for every graduating class, a phrase that would project across the years all the fineness of experience attained, that would enlarge the reach of mind and soul into fulfillment of every need or hope, I would offer the deathless truth phrased by an ancient poet:

"Except the Lord build the house,
They labor in vain that build it;
Except the Lord keep the city,
The watchman waketh but in vain."

CHANCELLOR W. C. JACKSON IS AWARDED HONORARY DEGREE

At the annual Commencement exercises at Bennett College, May 30, 1949, Chancellor W. C. Jackson was awarded an honorary degree by Dr. David Jones, president. The following citation was read when the degree was presented:

"WALTER CLINTON JACKSON, son of the South, student of a great teacher, William Heard Kilpatrick; believer in democracy beyond your environment, pioneer in the field of better race relations; student, teacher, author, guider of the destiny of one of America's great colleges for women; by virtue of the authority vested in me, I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters with all the rights, privileges and honors thereto appertaining."

Visitors Enjoy Student Art Exhibit in McIver

Student art activities for the year at Woman's College were given a graphic review in a fresh and varied exhibition in Weatherspoon Art Gallery in McIver Building, which was one of the chief attractions for commencement visitors.

Thirty-eight juniors and seniors had their work chosen for the exhibition. Working in thirteen different mediums and many materials, the students displayed their talents in watercolors, oils, lithographing, charcoal drawings, pen and ink drawings, pencil drawing, interior and exterior house models, architectural renderings, sculpture, metal work, wood cuts, and textiles.

Overflowing the art gallery, the work was also displayed in the art reference room and the third floor studios.

The quality of the work and the variety of treatments reflects the standing of the College Art Department as one of the leaders in the Southeast.

Chancellor Jackson's Message to the Seniors

Delivered May 30, 1949, at the Commencement Exercises in Aycok Auditorium

MEMBERS OF THE GRADUATING CLASS:

I cannot hope to crowd into this brief moment all the respect, the confidence, the gratitude, the admiration, and the affection and good wishes I have for you. I shall not indulge in advice nor repeat commonplace platitudes about success and happiness. These things you must find in your own good way. I can only engage in the repetition of things that are near to my heart.

This is the fifteenth time I have said good-bye to a departing Senior Class. There has been a steadfast accumulation in these years of a meeting of minds and hearts between us—these former classes and myself—and it rises today to its highest level, a flood that overflows its bounds. Your courtesy, your generosity, your good sense and good humor, your devotion to the College have all been unmatched and unsurpassed. You must know then with what satisfaction and with what confidence I see you leave today.

You take another turn this morning in the long road you are traveling. The scene changes for the College as well as for you. The rich gifts which you have brought to the College will not be lost with your going, but will abide with us. The College will carry through the coming years the mark of your study, your play, and your personality. All of the Gym Meets, Arts Forums, Purse Drives, Social Science Forums, University Sermons, Society Dances, Carolinnians and Coraddis, and Pine Needles, College Broadcasts, and Playmaker Productions, May Days and Chapel Programs, and Greater University Councils will be forever colored, in one way or another, by those of which you have been a part. You have traits and gifts that have increased the sum of the virtues of the procession of great persons who have passed this way. You have helped to make the College strong and great. We have respected your individuality, and we shall not forget it.

All that we have learned here together has been about the problem of how to handle the precious gift of living. Not everything about it, of course, has been mastered in these four years. You will continue to learn and to grow. It is one of my deepest wishes for you that you will always be really good and responsive and appreciative. I shall always be grateful that you chose to do this important part of your learning and growing in this place. I believe that these years have opened doors to you that you might have otherwise forever missed. You have held steadfastly to proven things while opening your minds to new truths. I commend that same steadfastness for openness to you for all the years ahead. I hope you will content yourselves with nothing less than the full allegiance to the good and the true and the beautiful that this College has always tried to represent. In such a faith and practice you may go forth confident to serve a wider community. Integrity of character, commitment and loyalty to the finest visions, a deep concern for all people—these you have shown in your life here. It is with high hope that we send you forth secure in the faith that you will take your part in the great community that lies about you mindful that a measure of the destiny of many hundreds of us is in your keeping.

There are so many things to be done. You can do many of them and do them handsomely. Go about doing these things with confidence, with imagination, with zest, and with faith and hope and charity. There will be difficulties; meet them with courage and intelligence. There will be successes and failures; treat them all with good sense and equanimity. There will be comedies and tragedies; valleys, dead levels and mountain peaks; take them all in your stride with love in your hearts and with a welcome to the winds of destiny in your face. Nor time, nor place, nor height, nor depth, nor powers, nor any circumstance can ever separate you from the love that has grown between us. Adieu and God be with each and every one of you.

Wilma Thompson Runs Henderson Kindergarten

Ingenuity and originality plus some good hard work have paid dividends for Wilma Thompson '48, who runs a private kindergarten in Henderson. The co-operation of the local school board in allowing her to use one of the rooms in a public school building is quite an advantage.

In the fall of her senior year, Wilma knew she wanted to teach kindergarten, so she approached the school superintendent and the school board for their permission to use an extra room in a school very centrally located and convenient to her home.

The job of decorating was done during the summer and with the help of her mother and father, the walls were painted; bookshelves, see-saws, blocks, and easels were made in their basement-workshop at home; and colored curtains were hung at the long school-room windows. Wilma's mother salvaged from the attic her dolls, doll clothes, doll bed and doll carriages, which afforded hours of wonderful entertainment for the little girls.

Two weeks before school opened, the new teacher visited each of the twenty-four children who had signed up and spent about an hour with each child, telling him about what they would do at kindergarten and getting him acquainted with Miss Thompson. She found it a decided advantage to know the name of each child the day school opened.

"My first day of school will never be forgotten," Wilma says. "there were 24 children, their mothers and a few fathers. The children were playing with blocks, puzzles, dolls and books. Parents were trying to pay the ten dollar a month fee and it was like a madhouse, but I managed to live through it."

Transportation is the responsibility of the parents, but some of the children arrive at 8:15 so they can ride with their fathers and school is over at noon.

Highlights of the year were the Halloween party, with the children in costumes and surprised to find a gypsy teaching them, the Christmas party, and a special program in May. Corsages of silvered sweet-gum balls and red candles and decorations for the Christmas tree were all made by the children. The chimney and mantel, Miss Thompson made from a bicycle box covered with brick-printed paper. Christmas cookies were mixed and cut by the young cooks and baked in the school cafeteria through the cooperation of the dietitian.

Her enthusiasm for her work and her gratitude to her teachers at Woman's College—Miss Eugenia Hunter, Miss Patsy Montague, and Miss Ruth Lee—for their practical help as well as good training were in evidence at all times. The love of the children for their teacher was apparent when they would call out greetings to her as she rode along Main Street.

Miss Thompson has been thrilled by the advancement of her children in learning to play together, dramatics, music, and art. The will to do a good job has been the secret of her success, but the labor has been lightened by personal interest in each of the twenty-four whom she loves as her very own.

As a successful kindergarten teacher, Wilma is a credit to her family and to Woman's College.

Minutes of Annual Meeting of Alumnae Association of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina

MAY 28, 1949, 2:30 p.m.

The Alumnae Association of Woman's College of the University of North Carolina held the annual Commencement meeting Saturday afternoon, May 28, 1949, 2:30 o'clock, in the Virginia Dare Room of Alumnae House, with Mrs. Boydston Satterfield (Frances Gibson '28), presiding.

Mrs. Satterfield expressed gratification that Dr. W. C. Jackson will remain as Chancellor for another year, and called on Mrs. C. W. Tillett (Gladys Avery '15) for a report from the alumnae committee on the recommendation of a chancellor.

Dr. Frank P. Graham, former president of the University of North Carolina and now United States Senator, spoke, greeting the class of 1949, joining in the congratulations that Dr. Jackson will serve another year, and summarizing the strength of the College as coming from the great woman's movement and the state public educational system, both of which it is a part, its founders and builders and its loyal alumnae. Woman's College, he said, has the largest per capita appropriation of any college, university or institution in this part of the world. He urged support of the federal aid for education bill now suspended in the House of Representatives.

Mrs. John Sockwell, Jr. (Mary Jane Wharton '31), vice president and chairman of alumnae committee on undergraduate relations, presented the class of 1949 to the association and moved the group be accepted through their representatives. This was seconded and unanimously passed and Mrs. Satterfield welcomed the class into membership. Mrs. Sockwell then introduced the everlasting president, Martha Fowler, who presented the other everlasting officers, representatives of the various departments conferring degrees, and Marilyn McCallum, class representatives to the alumnae board of trustees.

Mrs. Satterfield called the roll of reunion classes and each group stood in a body.

Chancellor Jackson in a short talk praised the work of the Alumnae Association and reviewed the building program. He is especially impressed, he said, with what has been done in the association in the past year, declaring that "something is sweeping through the state and beyond the state," and with the constant use of the Alumnae building.

Miss Katherine Taylor, dean of women, said that in travelling 5,000 to 6,000 miles to speak to 25 to 30 alumnae groups she has emphasized three points, the set-up at the College to take care of every student as an individual, the work of fine denominational workers and of one religious activities director employed by the College, and the definite social program to give students a normal life.

Dr. Marc Friedlander reviewed the development of the creative arts program at the College, which has culminated in the establishment of a graduate program in creative arts, offering the degree of master of fine arts.

In her president's report, Mrs. Satterfield declared highlights have been a tea for Freshmen during orientation week, Founder's Day meetings, participation in the Harriet Elliott Social Science Forum, legislative work, the vocational clinic which the association and the sophomore class sponsored jointly, and the work of Betty Brown Jester as alumnae secretary. She announced the reelection of Mrs. Jester by the Board.

Mrs. Jester reported that enrollment of active members on April 30 was 2,185, a 45% increase in two years. Since the first of October, 125 chapter meetings have been held with emphasis on a "know your college program." The president, she said, has given generously of herself and her time, the administration of the college has been more co-operative than could have been hoped for, and the faculty members have been generous in speaking at local chapter meetings, 60 different faculty members having gone to 55 meetings during the year.

For Mrs. Annie Beam Funderburk, chairman of the nominating committee, Miss Ione H. Grogan reported the following officers elected as a result of balloting by mail:

President, Mrs. John E. Sockwell, Jr. (Mary Jane Wharton '31), Greensboro.

Vice president, Mrs. Louis Hall Swain (Virginia Sloan '28), Raleigh.

Recording secretary, Mary Lois Gordon '43, Greensboro.

Board members: Josephine Hege '27, Greensboro; Mrs. James R. Young (Annie McIver '05), Greensboro; Mrs. W. L. Lambert (Julia Ross '24), Asheville; Jane Summerell '10, Greensboro.

Mrs. Sockwell took the chair, expressed gratitude for the honor and her intention to carry out the wishes of the group and of carrying on the program.

Miss Grogan expressed for the Association appreciation for the work of Mrs. Satterfield, who was given a rising vote of thanks.

As chairman of the finance committee, Miss Em Austin presented the budget for 1949-1950, which was accepted.

Nell Craig Strowd,
Recording Secretary.

News from Local Alumnae Chapters

Atlanta, Ga.

A dinner meeting of the Atlanta Chapter of the Woman's College Alumnae Association was held on Monday, May 23, 1949, at the Town House at 6:00 p.m. Fourteen alumnae were present.

Following a delightful dinner, the meeting was called to order by Miss Bootsie Webb '47, president. The minutes of the last meeting were read, after which a financial report was given by Miss Martha Britt, treasurer. She reported $24.85 in the treasury.

Mrs. Boydston Satterfield then suggested that we start a project next fall, so that we can contribute to the Chapel Fund for the College. In order that we make a success of such a project, she reminded us that we must start making plans for this project early.

It was agreed that we should try to have one summer meeting, especially since there will probably be a number of new alumnae coming to Atlanta in the summer and it would be a nice welcome for them. A steak fry was suggested for the month of July.

The meeting was then turned over to Helena Williams, program chairman, who introduced Mrs. W. W. Davidson, head of the Davidson School of Speech Correction, Emory University, Ga. Mrs. Davidson made a most interesting talk, giving a brief history of speech correction development and a discussion of the various types of speech disorders. Following her talk, she answered many questions concerning this important subject.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:00 p.m.

Catherine Yoe,
Secretary.

Baltimore, Md.

Alumnae of Woman's College met at the Y. W. C. A. in Baltimore, April 28, at 8 p.m., with Miss Katherine Taylor, dean of women, and Betty Brown Jester, alumnae secretary, as special guests. Anne (Buckley) Bachman '44 and Juliana (Hanks) Johnson '44, co-chairman were in charge of the meeting.

The group was interested in hearing first hand reports on Woman's College from Miss Taylor and Mrs. Jester. They announced faculty retirements, new courses, new buildings and plans for the future. Miss Taylor discussed the residence set-up, religious activities and plan for commencement.

At the conclusion of the program, ice cream and cake were served by the hostesses while the guests engaged in informal conversation about the Woman's College and College friends.

Buncombe County

Members of the Woman's College Alumnae of Buncombe County met May 21 for their annual luncheon at the Battery Park Hotel Roof Garden in Asheville. Mrs. Wyndham Hewitt (Frances Davault), retiring president, presided.

Mrs. J. S. Williams (Annie Meade Michaux, Class of '96) gave the invocation and during the luncheon scenes of student and campus life were passed among the guests.

Mrs. Albert Lathrop (Virginia Terrell '23) introduced Betty Brown Jester, Alumnae Secretary, who gave an up-to-date report on the activities of the W. C. alumnae.

Mrs. Lathrop then introduced Miss Katherine Taylor, Dean of Woman's College, who was the guest speaker. In covering the building program under way at the College, Miss Taylor said: "The whole campus is having its face lifted." Her discussion of student life at W. C. was interesting and inspiring. In describing the democratic way of living for all W. C. students, Miss Taylor paid tribute to Miss Harriet Elliott, former Dean of Women, for the splendid job she did in establishing democracy at W. C.

Miss Mildred Newton, Director of Admissions, discussed with the alumnae present the standard of admissions and the qualifications of students. Mrs. William Peeke (Dorothy Gaskins '38) was introduced as the new president for the Buncombe County W. C. Alumnae Association, and Mrs. L. E. Metcalf (Bobbie Holland '39) as the secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

Mrs. Hewitt asked Mrs. Robert Dysard (Virginia Connor '40), chairman of the Asheville W. C. Alumnae Bridge Group to tell something of the Bridge Group which has been recently organized. There are 13 members of Bridge Group 1 with a list waiting to organize other groups. The group meets once a month.

Delaware Area

The Delaware Area Chapter of the Woman's College Alumnae Association held a dinner meeting April 26, at 7:00 p.m., in the Hob Nob Tea Room, Wilmington, Del.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Arthur Bookout (Pelham Whitley '41), acting chairman, who welcomed the two guests, Mrs. Betty B. Jester, Alumnae Secretary, and Miss Katherine Taylor, Dean of Women at the College.

The chairman briefly explained the by-laws of the chapter. The vice chairman will serve as program chairman. The amount of the dues will be decided at the next meeting.

It was announced that the next meeting will be a dinner meeting to be held in the fall near Founders' Day.

At the head table standing is Pelham (Whitley) Bookout '41, chairman; seated, Betty Brown Jester, alumnae secretary; Katherine Taylor, dean of women; and Billie (McNeely) Propst '48.

Mrs. John A. Munroe (Dorothy Levis, '44), Chairman of the nominating committee, submitted the following report: Pelham W. Bookout, chairman; Mrs. H. F. Schaefer (Phyllis Keister, '39), vice chairman; Billie (McNeely) Propst, '48, secretary-treasurer, all of whom were unanimously elected.

Billie Propst read a greeting from Mrs. Boydston Satterfield, president of the General Alumnae Association.

A moving picture of the 1948 commencement was shown. Following the picture, Mrs. Jester told the group of the various alumnae activities, and the class reunions which were scheduled the week end of May 29.

Miss Katherine Taylor discussed the college program, both physical and scholastic, including plans and hopes for the future.

After informal discussion, the meeting was adjourned.

Billie McNeely Propst,
Secretary.

Forsyth County

The Forsyth County Chapter of the Woman's College Alumnae Association held its spring meeting at the Y. W. C. A. in Winston-Salem on April 7, 1949, with Dr. W. C. Jackson as guest speaker. Mrs. L. C. King (Margaret McManus '31), president, officiated and reviewed the association's work for the year and cited as particularly notable the scholarship award to a Forsyth County student.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mabel Chandler '44, president; Mrs. Reid Staton (Muriel Qua '40), vice-president; Jane Stewart Pollard '46, secretary; and Mrs. Marvin Ward, (Jane Darden '36), treasurer.

Dr. W. C. Jackson, Chancellor of the Woman's College, discussed the extensive building program of the College in regard to completed work and planned improvements. In the former category he told about the completion of the new laundry and soda shop, which was named the "Hubbub" through a contest; Dr. Jackson said that the basement of the four adjoining dining rooms has been completely remodeled, a new practice house for the home economics students has been built, construction of the new library is well under way, a large dormitory has been started and plans for a new home economics building are practically finished.

Dr. Jackson listed as advancements yet to come: a student union building, new infirmary, nursery school, renovation of the old library, expansion of the science building, and improvement of Curry High School. Dr. Jackson explained that appropriations from the legislature to the College are made in two parts—for maintenance and permanent improvements.

Dr. Jackson also noted the academic progress of Woman's College and pointed out that the School now offers a master's degree in fine arts, music, drama, and the dance.

He expressed the pride and pleasure of the College in having Miss Louise Alexander, of the history department, receive the O. Max Gardner Award this year. The award is presented annually to a faculty member of Woman's College, State, or Carolina who renders the greatest service to humanity.

Mrs. W. C. Jackson and Miss Virginia Jackson '29 were also special guests.

A social period and refreshments followed Dr. Jackson's address. No definite date was set for the fall meeting of the Association.

Jane Pollard,
Secretary.

Gainesville, Fla.

A small group of Woman's College Alumnae met at the home of Mrs. Chris Matheson (Sarah Hamilton '24) in Gainesville, June 24, 1949, to discuss plans for organizing an alumnae chapter.

Mrs. Matheson reported on activities at the college during commencement week-end when she attended the Silver Anniversary of her class. The others were interested in hearing a first-hand report.

Tentative plans were made for a meeting of all alumnae in that area early in September at which time officers will be elected and plans made for the year.

Those present for the organization meeting were: Betty Sue (Beaman) Wicker '47, Virginia (Foy) Hoffman '39, Dorothy (Blaney) Robinson '46, Peggy (Hanna) Leavitt '31, Ruth (Peacock) Shaw '44, and Sarah (Hamilton) Matheson.

Granville County

The Granville County chapter of the Alumnae Association of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, met on Friday, May 13, at the Lyon Building of the First Methodist Church, in Oxford.

Thirty-seven members enjoyed a delicious dinner and a program presented by two guests from the Woman's College, Miss Katherine Taylor, Dean of Women, and Mrs. Carlton Jester, Jr., executive secretary of the Alumnae Association. Movies of the commencement exercises of 1948 were shown followed by a short business meeting conducted by Frances (Upchurch) Myers '36, chairman.

Doris (Poole) Watkins '35 introduced Mrs. Jester, who brought greetings from the college and gave a report on the work of the Alumnae Association.

Frances (Davis) Hall '38 introduced

Miss Katherine Taylor, who gave a report on the physical, academic and social life at the college. She praised the work of the Alumnae Association in the recent legislature appropriations to the college. She explained that several departments are now becoming schools in their own right, for example she cited the home economics school which is no longer to be classified as a department. Next year a new degree, Master of Fine Arts, will be offered. This is an outgrowth of the annual arts forum, which has gained national attention. Miss Taylor emphasized the fact that all students have a great deal of personal attention. She said that often by the time the dormitory counselors give her a complete personnel report of each girl she sometimes knows as much about the girls as some of the parents. She told of all the religious activities on the campus and stated that she hopes the college will add religion to the curriculum soon. She stressed the fact that the social graces of better living are emphasized and the social life is well planned to make every girl a well-rounded, well-educated woman to make the most of her life.

Massachusetts

The Massachusetts chapter of the W. C. U. N. C. Alumnae Association met April 30, at 24 Pinckney St. in Boston. Mrs. Herbert Park (Frances Little '41) had invited the group to her attractive Beacon Hill apartment for this meeting and more than 30 alumnae gathered at 2 p.m.

The good news had spread fast that Mrs. Betty Jester and Miss Katherine Taylor were to be present and their arrival shortly after two o'clock started one of the happiest meetings which this group has had. There was just too much to be said and done in one afternoon, so we did the best we could with routine business.

Frances Park, vice-president, took charge of the meeting, explaining that Mrs. Harold Levin (Myra Siff '46), president, has moved to Buffalo. We shall all miss Myra who did so much to help the group organize, but we wish her happiness in her new home. Frances asked for reports from the secretary and treasurer. She then spoke of the success of the bridge party held at the McKinney's home. Those who were able to attend reported a very happy evening. Mrs. E. P. MacDonald (Ernestine Halyburton '33) gave details of the plans for a picnic at her home May 21. Mrs. Russell E. Pilling (Ruth Schohn '44), chairman of the membership committee, told of her work on the membership list and suggested ways of reaching and interesting members in certain localities more easily.

The following members were elected to office for the coming year:

President—Mrs. Charles G. Sawyer (Betsey Ivey '46).

Vice President—Mrs. E. P. MacDonald (Ernestine Halyburton '33).

Secretary—Mrs. John P. McNaght (Jane Tulloch '44).

Treasurer—Geraldine McKinney '48.
Program Chairman—Gladys Price '32.

We were very happy to spend the remainder of the afternoon listening to Mrs. Jester and Miss Taylor. Our Massachusetts alumnae are so far from Greenboro that every bit of college news is real news, and Mrs. Jester and Miss Taylor are excellent reporters. We were glad to hear that Dr. Jackson will remain as Chancellor; that the Alumnae organization has proven itself a real force in the growing program of the College. We were thrilled by all the changes taking place on the campus—the closing of Walker Avenue and the new library. The proposed plans for other new buildings sound wonderful. It was good to know that the Harriet Elliott Social Science Forum was successful as well as the Vocational Guidance Conference, newly attempted this year.

The final treat of the afternoon was the colored film of last year's commencement activities which Mrs. Jester showed for the group. We were all full of questions and anxious to talk but the time had passed far too swiftly and our meeting had to adjourn. Our chief request was that Mrs. Jester and Miss Taylor make a return engagement soon.

Ernestine MacDonald,
Secretary.

Twenty-three Woman's College Alumnae, husbands, and friends enjoyed a picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. MacDonald (Ernestine Halyburton '33) in Melrose, Mass., May 21.

It was a cool, beautiful New England day and we made frankfurters and hamburgers disappear in short order.

We spent the evening playing games, talking, and listening to Nita (Fife) Jennings '44 and her husband, Bob, play the piano.

New York—New Jersey

A joint meeting of the New York-New Jersey Alumnae of Woman's College brought together approximately eighty representatives of many classes at a luncheon in the Pompeian Room of the Hotel Shelton, New York City, May 1, 1949. Mrs. Hal (March) Sheffler '44, chairman of the New York group, presided.

Special guests from the college were Miss Katherine Taylor, dean of women, and Betty Brown Jester, alumnae secretary, who were presented to the group by Mrs. Claire (McRoberts) Bartlett '44, chairman of the New Jersey Alumnae Chapter.

Miss Taylor reviewed the activities at the college, personnel changes, additions to the curriculum, the building program, the religious activities, and the residence set-up.

Mrs. Jester reported on alumnae activities, the Social Science Forum, the Vocational Guidance Conference, and plans for commencement. The colored movie of Commencement 1948 was thoroughly enjoyed and mounted pictures of current happenings at the College were passed around during the luncheon.

Dr. E. W. Gudger, former faculty member and at present associated with the Museum of National History, joined the group after luncheon for the program and informal chatting that followed.

Philadelphia, Pa.

Woman's College Alumnae of Philadelphia and vicinity met at the Sansom House Wednesday, April 27, 1949, for luncheon. Mrs. George Bepple (Fannie Daniel '38), chairman, presided and introduced to the twenty-five present, the guests from Woman's College, Miss Katherine Taylor, dean of women, and Betty Brown Jester, alumnae secretary.

Miss Taylor discussed the progress at Woman's College, personnel changes, curriculum enrichments, the building program, and plans for the future. Mrs. Jester told of alumnae participation in the Social Science Forum and the Vocational Guidance Conference. Plans for commencement were announced and alumnae were urged to attend.

The group enjoyed seeing mounted pictures of people and events at the college which were circulated during the luncheon.

Special guests at the luncheon were Susan Dawson '50 and Mrs. Dorothy Young, former member of the residence staff at W. C. who is dean of women at Drexel University.

Pitt County

The Pitt County Chapter of the Alumnae Association of the Woman's College met May 13 at the Woman's Club in Greenville. Yellow and white candles, yellow daisies, and bowls of sweet peas effectively decorated the dining room.

On arrival alumnae were served tomato juice cocktail in the foyer by Mrs. Harlin R. Phillips (Margaret Wilson '21).

The meeting was opened by singing the College Song. Mrs. Luther Herring (Nettie Brodgen '08) gave the invocation. After a delicious dinner, Mrs. T. J. Williams (Jean Harvey '30) welcomed the guests. Mrs. J. K. Long (Pearl Wilson '20) gave an interesting report on the Harriet Elliott Social Science Forum which she attended in November. Mrs. Howard Mims (Nell Elizabeth Lewis '31) spoke enthusiastically of the part Woman's College Alumnae played in College Day activities held that day in Greenville High School.

This brought us to the "center of interest" of the evening. Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Sr. (Elizabeth Hinton '19) introduced the speaker, Mr. C. W. Phillips. Mr. Phillips, who was accompanied by his wife (Lela Wade '20) brought us interesting news and distributed pictures of the College. The group thoroughly enjoyed Mr. Phillips and the opportunity of "getting together."

Appointed to serve as a nominating committee for the year beginning next October were Mrs. J. D. McGlohon, Jr. (Marian Cox '40), Mrs. Gaither C. Frye (Frances Sowell '38), and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Jr. (Betty Gaines '46).

We adjourned to meet again in Grif-ton, Oct. 5, 1949.

Bertha Johnson,
Secretary.

Richmond, Va.

Forty-five alumnae of Woman's College met at the home of Mrs. Robert L. Wallerstein (Hilda Weil '26) in Richmond, Va., May 4, 1949, at 8 p.m. In the absence of Mrs. J. R. Ruffin (Esther Shreve '31), Mrs. Frances Roberts Farrell '33, vice president, presided.

Miss Katherine Taylor, dean of women, and Betty Brown Jester, alumnae secretary, were special guests from the college and brought the group up to date on activities of the students, alumnae, and faculty.

Miss Taylor, in addition to telling of faculty changes, new courses, buildings already begun and planned for the future, discussed the residence department program and religious activities.

Mrs. Jester reported on alumnae activities during the year, which included participation in the Social Science Forum and the Vocational Guidance Conference. She made announcements about plans for commencement, urging all alumnae to attend.

The Commencement 1948 movie was shown by Bobby Wallerstein, twelve-year-old son of Mrs. Wallerstein, and Dorothy Nelms '46, with commentary by Mrs. Jester.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the conclusion of the program and the group enjoyed seeing mounted pictures of the College and her activities. Copies of Coraddi, Carolinian, and view books were also distributed.

Among those present was Celeste Ulrich '46, who teaches at Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., and had driven 150 miles to attend the meeting.

Thomasville, N. C.

The Thomasville Woman's College Alumnae met Wednesday night, April 27, at the home of Mrs. Frank Newsome (Susannah Matthews '44) with a number of Alumnae as associate hostesses.

During the short business session, the nominating committee presented their report. The following were elected as officers for 1949-1950:

Chairman, Laura Neece '29; Vice Chairman, Ila Hensley '27; Secretary, Marie Jones, Com. '18; Treasurer, Mrs. Claude Royals (Mildred Long '29).

Four faculty members from the college were guests, Mrs. Annie Beam Funderburk of the Romance Language Department; Mrs. Kathleen Petty Hawkins, who has charge of student loan and scholarship funds; Miss Mary Tennent '13, Assistant Registrar; and Miss Dorothy Clement '23, counselor in Hinshaw Hall. An interesting program was presented by Mrs. Funderburk, who talked about the buildings, faculty, and the plans for Commencement, and Miss Clement, who told of the residence set-up, student government, and how the large enrollment is broken up into smaller groups. Mothers of prospective students were guests and asked a number of questions about college life.

A social hour was enjoyed at the conclusion of the program.

Ada Kilby Myers,
Secretary.

Wake County

The Wake County Alumnae held their spring meeting on Tuesday evening, May 10, at the Fairmont Methodist Church Fellowship Center in Raleigh. Mrs. T. N. Brafford, Jr. (Elizabeth Patten '41), President, presided over the dinner meeting and the business session which followed. Betty Brown Jester, Alumnae Secretary, Miss Katherine Taylor, Dean of Women, and Miss Louise Alexander, member of the Woman's College faculty and first recipient of the O. Max Gardner Award, were honored guests. The delicious dinner was served by Mrs. Donald Ashton's (Alice Thomas '35) church circle.

Mrs. Sam Beard (Libby Bass '47) introduced Miss Louise Alexander, the speaker of the evening. Miss "Alex" in her characteristic manner spoke to us on "World Affairs." Although she said she had been assigned a "ponderous" subject, she was nonetheless entertaining as well as instructive.

Mrs. Jester outlined the plans for Commencement and invited us all to attend. Miss Taylor commented upon how successful our legislative program was and told us that the General Assembly had appropriated seven million dollars for permanent improvements in the past two sessions.

Mrs. W. H. Kimrey (Phoebe Ennis '40), Bridge Chairman, reported that bridge clubs of nine members each were meeting monthly from September through May. Any other alumnae interested were invited to make up other groups. Dorothy Ward '41 reported that her committee has been trying to get the mailing list of over 800 Wake County alumnae up to date. The president thanked all committees, including the Legislative Committee for its work before and during the General Assembly session and the decorating committee which functioned at each of our three meetings, for their work during the year.

Mrs. Owen Walker (Doris Clark '43) made the report of the Nominating Committee, and the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year:

President: Mrs. W. H. Kimrey (Phoebe Ennis '40)
Vice President: Mrs. T. L. Ashcraft (Carolyn Wolfe '41)

Secretary: Juanita Stott '27
Treasurer: Ella B. McDearman '26
About 70 members attended the dinner and about 15 others joined the group before the business session began.

Juanita Stott,
Secretary.

Washington, D. C.

Over sixty members of the Washington Club of Woman's College Alumnae attended a luncheon on May 21, 1949. The guest of honor was Senator Frank Porter Graham, who spoke most interestingly of the growth of Woman's College as part of two general movements in North Carolina: The Educational Movement and the Woman's Movement.

The delightful luncheon was held at the Woman's National Democratic Club, 1526 New Hampshire Ave., N. W., and was an enjoyable climax to an unusually interesting club year. Under the capable guidance of Eloise (Cobb) Harris '33, a Renaissance movement in the Washington Club has created renewed spirit. Miriam (Block) Lubin '31 achieved grand results as Chairman of the luncheon. Frances (Hampton) Goodridge '30 was unanimously elected a member of the Executive Board for the coming year, and the club is looking forward to an even greater revival of interest next year.

Frances Hampton Goodridge.

Watauga County Alumnae Tea

On Saturday afternoon, April 30th, Mrs. H. B. Perry (Doris Taylor '07), president of the Watauga Alumnae Chapter, entertained its members at a tea at her home in Boone. The college colors were carried out in her decorations, refreshments, and corsages presented to those who participated in the meeting.

After registering, the group was invited into the dining room where Mrs. Paul Coffey (Margaret Linney '25) presided at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Perry welcomed the group and presented Miss Billie Todd '98 of Jefferson, N. C., oldest member present, a corsage. Then she turned the meeting over to Miss Mary H. Walker '30 who discussed briefly the candidates for offices in the General Alumnae Association for the incoming year. Miss Helen Burch '19, Dean of Women at Appalachian State Teachers' College, spoke briefly to the point that Alumnae membership is a good investment as one way to maintain and assure our way of life. Miss Billie Todd told of experiences reminiscent of the early days at the college.

After the program the Alumnae turned in their dues making a paid membership of ten for the Watauga Chapter.

Those present were relatives of Mrs. Perry and the following alumnae: Misses: Billie Todd '98, Helen Burch '19, Madge Rhyne '41, Mary Ellen Gibbs '49, and Mary H. Walker '30; Mesdames: J. E. Holshouser (Virginia Dayvault '33), Paul Coffey (Margaret Linney '25), R. T. Greer (Annie Ruth German '31), Ben Horton (Cleta Jones '31), C. H. Kirkman, Jr., (Eugenia Kears '41), and Lillian Hopkins (Lillian Miller '01).

Mary Walker,
Secretary.

Wilson County

Twenty-six alumnae of Woman's College met Tuesday night, June 7, 1949, at Parker's Barbeque in order to reorganize a Wilson County Alumnae Chapter.

The arrangements were made by Sara (Moss) Clark '46, who presided. After singing the College song, Ethel Bynum '22 then read the minutes of the last meeting, which was held Nov. 2, 1940. Lynda (Mitchell) Lamm '37 presented the slate of officers prepared by the nominating committee, as follows: Chairman:

WOMAN'S COLLEGE LEADERS IN GOLDEN CHAIN

The Golden Chain, Woman's College honorary leadership organization which has replaced Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges at the college, is experiencing its first year of activity with the group of outstanding student leaders shown above as members. They are, front row, left to right: Nell Jones, High Point; Sarah Denny, daughter of Bessie (Brown) Denny '18, Raleigh; June Holtzendorff, Clemson, S. C., treasurer; Nan Kendall, Middleboro, Mass., president; Martha Guion, Aberdeen, secretary; Clara Jean Cooke, Winston-Salem; and Lucille McCollum, Troy. Second row, left to right: Elizabeth Lee Cunningham, Gastonia; Betsy Umstead, Durham; Jane Edwards, Lynchburg, Va.; Marilyn Cohn, Alexandria, Va.; Shirley Mahan, Newton Upper Falls, Mass.; Eleanor Rigney, Long Island, N. Y. Third row, left to right: Nancy Porter, Cincinnati, Ohio; Ruth Sellars, daughter of Irene (Templeton) Sellars '17, Charlotte; Marilyn McCollum, Reidsville; Jan Shore, Winston-Salem; Nancy Beam Funderburk, daughter of Anne (Beam) Funderburk '16, Greensboro; Barbara Apostolacus, Long Branch, N. Margaret (Abbit) Goodwin '35, Vice Chairman; Kat (Thompson) Barnes '38, Sec.-Treas.; Martha (Kirkland) Walston '43. The slate was accepted, and Margaret (Abbit) Goodwin took the chair and called upon everyone to introduce herself, and to tell to which class she belonged. Jack (Rose) Oettinger '39 pronounced the invocation.

At the conclusion of a delicious meal, Lynette (Swain) Moss '15 introduced Mr. C. W. Phillips, director of public relations for the College as our guest speaker and Mrs. Phillips (Lela Wade '20). Mr. Phillips spoke to us about the tremendous building program that is now under way and the plans for further expansion. He told us about the summer projects at Beaufort and Burnsville. Mr. Phillips brought greetings from the dean and the alumnae secretary, and told of deaths among faculty members and changes in personnel.

Everyone enjoyed Mr. Phillips' talk as well as the many pictures, bulletins, pamphlets, etc., that he brought.

Martha (Kirkland) Walston '43,
Secretary.

SUMMER COUNSELLORS

Miss Ione Grogan, assisted by Mrs. Anne Carter and Mrs. Annie Beam Funderburk, was in charge of the residence department during Summer School.

Miss Elvira Prondecki was counselor at Burnsville School of Fine Arts during July and Miss Mary Elizabeth Barwick '44 was there during the month of August.

Report of Alumnae Office

MAY 28, 1949

The interest and activity in the Alumnae Association this year has been most gratifying. During 1947-1948 we were delighted to report 24 local chapter meetings. This year there have been 125 local chapter meetings since October 1, 1948, with several thousand alumnae in attendance.

Sixty-one of the local meetings were held on Founder's Day in the hope that the program from Aycock Auditorium would be broadcast. Technical difficulties of course prevented the broadcast from being heard, but from the Founder's Day effort came forty-seven newly organized or reactivated alumnae chapters in North Carolina, which have since that time had other meetings.

We now have 62 local alumnae chapters—48 in North Carolina and fourteen out of the state, including:

Washington, D. C., St. Petersburg, Fla., Boston, Mass., New Jersey, New York City, Philadelphia, Pa., Columbia, S. C.

Atlanta, Ga., Kingsport, Tenn., Chicago, Ill., Wilmington, Del., Baltimore, Md., Richmond, Va., Norfolk, Va.

The College Faculty and students have been most cooperative in attending meetings. Sixty faculty members and a number of students have visited 55 of these groups. Many of them have been to several meetings.

Emphasis at the local chapter meetings has been placed on bringing the alumnae up to date on the changes that are taking place in the physical plant, curriculum, faculty and student body at Woman's College rather than the solicitation of funds or active memberships. It has been a "Know Your College" year.

Active memberships in the Alumnae Association now total 2185, an increase of approximately 46% within the past two years.

Your Alumnae Secretary has attended 26 alumnae meetings and has travelled 4990 miles during the past year.

Any accomplishments or achievements of the Alumnae Association are due:

1. To the President of the Association who has given so generously of herself and her time and thoughts to planning and executing the alumnae projects for the past two years.

2. To the Alumnae Board of Trustees for their support and ideas and help in everything.

3. To the Alumnae everywhere through their interest and cooperation in planning and attending meetings as well as their generosity in contributing to the Alumnae Fund.

4. To the College Administration for their support both financial and otherwise in our every undertaking. We are particularly grateful to Dr. Jackson and Miss Katherine Taylor, who have given so generously of their time as well as their thought and efforts.

5. To the Faculty for their interest and cooperation in all of our projects and for attending meetings.

6. To the students for their cooperation, interest and work in various efforts of the alumnae.

7. To the committee chairmen who have done their work so efficiently and effectively, thereby greatly facilitating the work of the Association.

A report of the Alumnae Secretary would not be complete without full credit being given to Mrs. Evon Dean, assistant in the Alumnae Office, who, through her untiring efforts, her deep loyalty and efficiency makes an invaluable contribution.

In addition to the routine work of running the House, correspondence, keeping the ever changing records, editing the Alumnae News, and working with the local chapter, the alumnae staff has worked with the committees in planning the social events, the Harriet Elliott Social Science Forum, the Vocational Guidance Conference, and work with the legislature, details of which are included in the various committee reports.

To all of you who have helped, go our sincere thanks and we hope that during the next year, we will be able to render greater service to the College and the Association.

Betty Brown Jester,
Alumnae Secretary.

Myrtle Soles Attends School in Rome

Miss Myrtle Soles '45, Instructor of Latin in the Department of Classical Civilization, was selected as one of the 25 American students to attend the School of Classical Studies of the American Academy in Rome, Italy. Professor Mason Hammond of Harvard University directed the Summer Session, which lasted from July 5 to August 13. The activities of the group included visits to classical monuments and collections in the city of Rome, trips to other sites in Latium and Etruria, in addition to regular lectures and individual studies. Miss Soles will return from Europe late in August to resume her duties at the Woman's College, as instructor of Latin.

Pi Kappa Lambda Initiates Two Seniors

Two music majors in the Class of '49, Frances Barwick, oboist, of Greensboro, and Betty Jane Carr, pianist, of Burlington, were initiated into Pi Kappa Lambda, national honorary music fraternity, Friday, May 27, 1949, in the Pecky Cypress Room of Alumnae House. Membership in this fraternity is the highest honor that can come to a music student at Woman's College.

Gloria Wagner Welti Sends News from Sumatra

Sumatra, Indonesia
May 18, 1949

Dear Alumnae News:

The February issue of The Alumnae News arrived here in the "wilds" of Sumatra just yesterday, May 17th. No matter how long it takes to get here, it is a wonderful tie that keeps us in touch. Bob, my husband, even refuses to let me read it until he has finished, and I find myself doing the same with his Alumni Book. Being just 12,000 miles from home either via the Pacific or the Atlantic route, you can well imagine how much we both enjoy scanning the pages for news of friends and their families.

One of the biggest thrills was accidentally and literally to bump into Anna (Winslow) Newbold '43, whose ship had anchored almost at our very front door. We were living in Sungei Gerong at the time, and if it had been a week later when we were to move up to Palembang, we would have missed Anna. Anna and her small son were on their way to Bangkok, Siam, to join her husband, who is with the American consulate there. She spent a few days in Sungei Gerong while the ship was unloading, but I was sorry we couldn't get up to the city of Palembang to show her around. There was a smallpox epidemic at that time, and people were dying by the dozens. From her letters from Bangkok later, she seemed to be enjoying the interesting life of Bangkok. And in her last letter, the big news is that she is moving to Batavia, Java. Batavia is just 1½ hours by plane from here, so I hope we shall be seeing each other soon. It certainly is a small, small world after all!

Now for the story of our life. We were married June 14, 1947. Bob left for Sumatra in August, and I flew out here via K. L. M. six months later in January 1948. We have been here since then and wouldn't trade anything for having come. Bob is assistant purchasing agent for Standard Vacuum Oil Company. You all have probably been reading of the political upsets in the Dutch East Indies, now called Indonesia. I don't pretend to know much about politics, but assure you that the papers at home have undoubtedly played the situation up more than is actually necessary. We in Palembang have been lucky; there has been no action in our immediate vicinity, but we find stories and rumors drifting in about the action in Java and northern Sumatra. We here are always the last to learn the news. Everything seems to be quiet these days and we hope they continue to be. The Indies are still in a horrible mess from the Jap occupation, and it is a slow recovery they are making. The housing is much worse than anything in the states, but even in the year or so I have been here it is possible to see the vast change for the better.

Standard Vacuum has its refinery in Sungei Gerong and its offices. There is quite a settlement of people in that town with facilities for swimming, bowling,

Faculty Retirements

On June 30, 1949, three members of the faculty retired: Professor J. P. Givler, head of the department of Biology; Miss Edna Forney, assistant treasurer; and Mrs. J. S. Hunter, counselor in Gray Hall.

Professor Givler has bought a home on Westover Terrace, in Greensboro, and will continue his hobby of repairing musical instruments. Mrs. Hunter is at home in Asheville. Miss Edna Forney, who has been conducting trips for Louck Tours this summer, will be at her home on Lake Drive this fall.

tennis, movies, hospital, schools. Palembang is about seven miles from the refinery. Palembang being the Big Town. The native compounds and Pasar (marketplace) are things you have to become accustomed to, for they characteristically are laden with the strange odors of the Far East; but the European sections are quiet pretty. We are now living in a small house and are very lucky to have one. Our servants number three, but that doesn't mean we women don't have lots of work to do. Cooking is a problem out here, there are so many things we have to substitute. We close our cookbooks in disgust when we read recipes calling for whipped cream!

The native people are interesting people to know. I told Bob if I were born a native and had a choice, I would want to be one of these people. The Malayan language is a beautiful one and easy, too. Their religion is Mohammedan for the most part, and I have been trying to learn as much as I can about it. The face of a Malayan is unique and their dispositions are unusually happy ones.

There are about 250 Americans here and so the community spirit is very high. For entertainment there are parties and dances, movies, and our big beautiful golf course. There is never a dull moment. We might add that the weather here in this part of the tropics is ideal, we always seem to have sunshine and a cool breeze at the same time. Of course, it rains here once in a while, but not enough to make us worry like Californians do!

We spent our local leave of two weeks in Singapore, and needless to say we had a grand time. We really felt like hicks from the sticks though. I also spent 10 days in Batavia, Java, recently visiting. Our next trip will be the renowned island of Bali. And then our big trip will be back to the states in August 1950, which will be here before we know it. Be seeing you then.

Sincerely,

Gloria (Wagner) Welti '45

ALUMNAE EXHIBIT 1896-1949 IS DISPLAYED DURING COMMENCEMENT

Of particular interest to alumnae and visitors during commencement was the costume exhibit arranged throughout the Alumnae House by Ellen Griffin '40, general reunion chairman, and her committee. Dresses, scrapbooks, pictures, and annuals were displayed along with costumes of various periods from 1896 to 1949.

Many of the dresses were exhibited on mannequins, but the response to the request was so much greater than was expected that some were hung near the tables which were filled with photographs, programs, etc. Class day dresses, recital dress, evening dresses, sport costumes, even pantaloons were on display, marked with the name of the wearer and the occasion.

Among those who sent dresses were Susan (Green) Finch '18, who sent her recital dress; Marguerite Wright, a gym suit of 1915 vintage; Octavia (Jordan) Perry '16, her class day dress; Carrie (Tabor) Stevens '20, a 1920 gym suit; Annette (Bridges) Dulaney '41, a Sunday dress for 1941; Jane Summerell '10, class day dress; Virginia (Brown) Douglas '02, a beaded dress along with several others; Elizabeth (Sockwell) Scott '34, an evening dress.

The wedding dress worn by Mrs. Fodie (Buie) Kenyon '96 and the picture of Mrs. Kenyon in her wedding gown made a most interesting display. An embroidered linen dress and a pair of pantaloons made by Mrs. Kenyon also attracted much attention.

A good many of the dresses were given to the Home Economics Costume Collection and it is the hope of the Costume Committee that eventually, dresses of each year in the history of the college will be added.

Assisting Ellen Griffin with the costume display were Elizabeth Hathaway '25, Dorothy Clement '23, Agnes Coxé '27, and Valerie (Powell) Jones '40.

Anne Pitoniak Now With New York Radio

Anne Pitoniak '43, 96 Perry Street, New York, returned from Japan, where she was with Army Special Services, early in 1948 and has since then been in radio work in New York. She has been heard in productions, "Adventure Parade," "Aunt Jenny," "Radio City Playhouse," "Right to Happiness," "Tex and Jinx," "Light of the World," and "McCall's On the Air." She has done spot shows for Camels, Robert Hall and Swan Soap, and her commercials include those for Dreft, Oxydol, Swansdown and Toni.

Anne will be remembered for her excellent performances with the Playlikeys while a student at Woman's College, and besides her years with the Army, she had two years as a civilian actress and has given performances at the Cleveland Playhouse.

Jane Cox Attends California Meeting

Miss Jane Cox, the X-Ray instructor in the Department of Physics, attended the national meeting of the American Society of X-Ray Technicians in San Francisco, Cal., from June 5 to 10. Miss Cox was the official delegate from the state of North Carolina. She is beginning her second year as president of the North Carolina Society of X-Ray Technicians. Miss Cox took with her her own exhibit of X-Ray shadowgraphs of flowers to the convention in California.

Dr. and Mrs. Marc Friedlaender and family took an extended tour to the West Coast.

Miss Edna Forney, who retired in June, conducted tours for Loucks Tours in Canada during July.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Ivy spent most of June and July in California.

Lettie Hamlett Rogers Completes Second Novel

Mrs. Lettie Hamlett Rogers, assistant professor of English at Woman's College, and author of the widely read novel, "South of Heaven," has completed her second novel and the manuscript is in the hands of her publisher, Random House. As yet unnamed, the novel is scheduled for publication next January. Like "South of Heaven," Mrs. Rogers' second novel has for its setting China, where the author spent her girlhood.

Mrs. Rogers is also awaiting publication of a long short story, "Dust to Dust," which she has sold to McCall's Magazine.

Prof. Rene Hardre, of the Woman's College, has been elected representative of the fifth district of the American Association of Teachers of French and will be a delegate to the national convention of the organization to be held in San Francisco in September. The district represented by Professor Hardre comprises six southern states.

Miss Birdie H. Holloway, assistant professor of public schools music at Woman's College, conducted the workshop on elementary and Junior High School music education at the fourth annual Highlander Festival, sponsored by the Highland Park schools of Dallas, Texas, April 29 and 30. The Festival attracts teachers and children's groups from many places in northeastern Texas.

Miss Schoch Goes to Switzerland

Miss Caroline Schoch, who retired as head of the Department of German in 1948, left in May for an indefinite stay abroad. She wrote Elizabeth Anne Bowles '50 in July that she planned to spend the latter half of July and all of August and September in Germany and Austria. She plans to return to Zurich in the fall where she may stay for the remainder of the year.

News from the Alumnae

Sudie (Israel) Wolfe is spending the summer with her brother, 62 Orange Street, Asheville.

1895

Daisy (Bailey) Waitt, 117 Woodburn Road, Raleigh. "After teaching a number of years in school and college, I am living at home and pursuing genealogy, formerly a hobby, on a more or less professional basis. With the Archives, Land Grant Offices, and State Library, much North Carolina material is available and I find the work most interesting.

"I have on my desk a card from Elizabeth (Patten) Brafford, president of the Wake County Alumnae Chapter, announcing a dinner meeting for May 10th. Mrs. Brafford and her board have done a fine year's work for the chapter."

Everlasting President
Mrs. T. Gilbert Pearson
(Elsie Weatherly)
2257 Loring Place
University Heights, New York City.

Emily (Asbury) Yoder writes: "The past winter I visited my daughter, Mrs. Katherine (Yoder) Scharrer, '22, in Miami, Fla. I am now visiting my daughter, Mrs. Zoe (Yoder) Love, '20, in Durham. I visited in Valdosta, Ga., a few days on my return from Miami. I wished to visit my grandson and family there and see my first great-granddaughter, Una Love, daughter of Roderick Love, Jr., son of Zoe. I have a grandson, Thomas A. Love, studying art and music in Duke University. Another grandson, Joe A. Yoder, is with the Forestry Service in Washington, D. C. I have eleven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. My health is fairly good. I have just finished quilting a quilt. I crochet, read, write, play the piano, sew, and keep house. I do my cooking, washing and ironing. While here, I have picked some strawberries. I went over to High Point recently to attend a convention of the State District League of Postmasters, of which I am a life members, having been a member 25 years. I am now retired."

Cammie (Curtis) Wright wrote in May that she was looking forward with interest to commencement and to her 82nd birthday, June 29, 1949. "Someone said I was as active as a sixteen-year-old girl. Have voted at each presidential election since the privilege was given us, and attended church with my husband every Mothers' Day since 1910, including May 10, 1949."

Everlasting President
Mrs. R. Murphy Williams
(Lillie Boney),

Lillie (Boney) Williams, 306 Mayflower Drive, Greensboro, writes: "Have collaborated with my husband in publishing a book of family records — Williams-Murphy Family Records."

Augusta (Judd) Campbell and her family live at 846 Carlton Avenue, Lake Wales, Fla. She wrote recently: "After attending Woman's College, 'N & I' at that time, 1894-1895, I went to Chowan College, Murfreesboro. I then taught in the rural schools of North Carolina for four years. In 1901 I was married to a distant cousin of our Dr. McIver in old Moore County, now Lee County. We bought a farm on which we lived for three years, when I followed my husband to Florida and became something of a pioneer. For thirty-seven years we have lived in Lake Wales, site of the beautiful Singing Tower and home of the late Edward Bok. When we came here, the school was a one-teacher school with some twenty students. Now a plant of some 40 or 50 teachers and more than 1200 students. With our four children, I was in close touch with growth of our school, a president of Parent-Teacher Association and often substituting for teachers. My son graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1932, so I have also kept in touch with the Old North State and her wonderful advancements."

Myrtie (Sharpe) Furches, 259 Kelly St., Statesville, writes: "I was in College from 1894-'95 and '95 and '96. I was married to Mr. Furches December 31, 1896. Mr. Furches died October 23, 1943. We had eight children and all are living. One, Clayton, is at Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co. Two are with me in the old home."

Everlasting President
Mrs. M. H. Willis
(Rosalind Sheppard)
673 West End Boulevard
Winston-Salem, N. C.

Isabelle (Brown) Funke, who is a chiropractor living in Waynesville, N. C., still carries on her practice, but says she finds it best to avoid crowds and excitement.

Eugenia Jamison, Rt. 3, Mooresville, writes that she would have enjoyed the reunion so much. She regrets losing her class picture in a fire in 1936, and says she has a hard time trying to visualize the faces of her classmates fifty years after graduation.

Fannie McClees, of Wilmington, writes that she retired after teaching forty-six years and is now enjoying the things she was unable to do while teaching. She has an apartment in the home of a friend there in Wilmington. She reads, sews, does fancy work, and teaches a Sunday School class of nine-year-old girls. She makes and sells baby sets, which work she enjoys very much.

Berta Melvin has moved from Greensboro to "The Methodist Home," Rt. 8, Box 533, Charlotte. She taught school until 1939 when her health made it necessary to give up teaching.

Susie (Middleton) Thorpe of Rocky Mount, wrote that she had hoped to attend the 1899 reunion, but was not feeling well and was unable to make it. She says she hopes to be able to attend the next reunion.

She went to California in June to visit one of her daughters who is married and lives out there. She has four fine children, a son and three daughters, all of whom are married.

Bessie Moody says that she and her sister had to be in Milton, Fla., just at the time of the reunion. They lost their brother a year and a half ago, and they are carrying on. They have a six-acre place in Florida.

Mattie (Moore) Taylor, who was here for commencement, wrote in May: "Mr. Taylor and I have lived in South Carolina since our marriage in 1904. We have lived in Florence 42 years. Mr. Taylor passed on in June, 1944, and our second son died in June, 1945. Since these trying years, life seems to almost 'stymie' me. However, two beautiful grandchildren have added much to my happiness."

Elizabeth (Smithwick) Smith, Rt. 2, Windsor, wrote Jessie (Whitaker) Ricks in June saying how sorry she was not to come to the Fiftieth Reunion and sending best wishes to the Class of 1899. She has lived alone since her husband's death in 1946. "I have chickens and a garden and my hobby is fancy work."

Frances Suttles lives in Asheville. She suffers from arthritis but enjoys reading aloud to her friends at the convalescent home. Miss Bessie Moody visited her in June and says she is just as cheerful and good as she has always been.

Nellie (Whitfield) Shaw, Laurinburg, had hoped to be present for the reunion, but her 91-year old father broke his hip and died in June. Both of her daughters are married, and there are three grandsons. Her older son was married in April, and the younger son lives at home with her and her husband.

Bettie (Wright) Smith of New Bern writes that she had hoped till the last minute to be able to be present for the reunion. She thought of the class of 1899 all day, she says, wondering who was there.

She and her husband have retired, both of them having been active in school work. They have three children, two daughters and one son. The son and one daughter, who lives in California, are married. The younger daughter teaches in the Charlotte City Schools. Her son lost sight in one of his eyes, due to an injury, while at Edgewood Arsenal during the war. On account of this, he had to give up his splendid job in research work with Air Reduction Co., and go to Bucknell University, Penn., where he teaches chemical engineering. She has four grandchildren, three girls, and a boy.

Fiftieth Anniversary of Class of 1899

The Class of 1899 had a most enjoyable Fiftieth Anniversary Luncheon Saturday, May 28, in the private dining room of the Home Economics Cafeteria. Eleven members of the class, several from earlier classes and Miss Em Austin, Miss Mary Petty and Miss Annie Petty, special guests, were present.

White place cards tied with red ribbon and printed in red ink marked each member's place and the class colors were used in the centerpiece of large crimson carnations (the class flower) and fern. Running from the centerpiece were garlands of fern and carnations. A red ribbon from each place card to the flowers made a very effective table and each person was given a red carnation as a favor.

Each member of the class told what she had been doing and about her family, and news of those who could not come gave much pleasure.

Mrs. Jessie Whitaker Ricks was the gracious presiding officer in the absence of Mrs. Rosalind Shepard Willis, who was unable to come at the last minute. Arrangements for the meeting had been made by Mrs. Willis and Mrs. Ricks.

Eleven members of the class have gone, and at the close of the meeting the group bowed heads for a few seconds in memory of them.

Those present voted to hold the next '99 Reunion in 1953 with Mrs. Lucy Coffin Ragsdale and Mrs. Cary Ogburn Jones as hostesses. The only regret of the reunion was that every living member of the class could not be present.

Everlasting President

Mrs. Wade Barrier
(Mittie P. Lewis)
Box 1434, Wilmington, N. C.

Johnsie Coit has moved to Plattsburg, N. Y., where she keeps house for her brother, Prof. J. Knox Coit, head of the departments of philosophy and psychology at Champlain College. Miss Coit retired from teaching in 1942.

Mittie (Lewis) Barrier writes that owing to an illness in her family, she was unable to plan a reunion for the Class of 1900 for 1949, but that every member of the class must be ready to have a big reunion to celebrate the 50th anniversary in 1950.

Lelia Judson Tuttle, Tuttlefields, Route 6, Lenoir, N. C.: "I am continuing to be occupied with church and community work, with rather frequent talks on China and with exhibits here at home of my collection of China's Arts and Crafts."

1903

Myrtle (Detwiler) Sales, Fletcher, writes: "Everything is much the same with me. I have three grand-children, one grandson and two granddaughters. My youngest daughter has moved to Allentown, Pa., to make her home. I have three children, a son and two daughters. I take an active part in church work, am president of our W.S.C.S. and sub-district chairman of the work in the Asheville district. I am still writing a column for a Henderson County weekly newspaper."

1904

Everlasting President
Florence Ledbetter

Center Street, Terre Haute, Ind., sent clippings and a program recently about her daughter, Alice Willey Green, pianist. Mrs. Green, who lives in Detroit, an alumna of Oberlin Conservatory of Music and Eastman School of Music, is also a member of Mu Phi Epsilon fraternity. She was presented in concert by the Terre Haute Symphony Orchestra Association, April 12, 1949.

1907 Reunion

The twelve of us who met for luncheon at the O. Henry Hotel at one o'clock on Alumnae Day had a wonderful time together talking of by-gone days, and particularly, hearing news of those of you who were absent. We missed all of you, and wished we could have had news of everybody.

Five of the six, who had written letters and cards to the others before commencement, were present. Eula Blue wrote that she couldn't come because of the feebleness of her 96-year-old mother. The ones who were there were Lulie Whitaker, May (Lovelace) Tomlinson, Mary (Reid) Idol, Belle Hampton, Winnie Harper, Mary (Stradwick) Berry, Marjorie (Kennedy) White, Willie (Spainhour) Grier, Eleanor (Elliott) Carroll, Alma (Cunningham) McCain, Inez (Koonce) Stacy, and myself. Clare (Case) Ingram, Ethel Dalton and Florence Ledbetter had expected to be there but didn't make it at the last minute. Letters and cards came from Rosa Lee Dixon, Ethel Lyon, Mattie Kate Shaw, Margaret (Call) Thompson, Sue (Williams) Williams, and Jane (Robinson) Pearson, saying their own illness or that of a member of their family would prevent their coming.

How I did wish every one could have been present at the Alumnae Meeting to hear Dr. Jackson tell of the wonderful growth planned for the college during the next few years.

Be sure that you begin to make plans now to go to our 50th reunion eight years hence.

Mary Exum,
Everlasting Vice-President.

Everlasting President
Mrs. Major T. Smith
(Nettie Dixon)

243 Maple Avenue, Reidsville, N. C.

Flieda Johnson wrote in July that she was leaving for a two weeks "Saguenay Cruise" which included Montreal, Quebec, a cruise up the St. Lawrence, and back through the New England States with stops in Boston and New York. Edna Forney '08 conducted the trip for the Loucks Tours.

Lola (Lasley) Dameron, 206 Union Ave., Burlington, has two sons, both of whom were in the war, but returned safely. The older one, Edgar S. W. Dameron, Jr., is a law graduate and is in business with his father. John Lasley Dameron, who was with the Navy at Iwo Jima, is a senior at U. N. C. and is studying personnel management.

Jessie (Smoak) Pharr will begin her twenty-sixth year of teaching at Wilkesboro High School in September. Her daughter, Elizabeth, graduated Cum Laude in May from Appalachian College.

1909 Ruby Reunion

Evelyn (Gudger) Roberts of Marshall, N. C., writes of the 1909 Ruby Reunion:

"Our 40 year reunion was a success! I had the best time during the day I spent at the College that I ever had anywhere and will be thinking of it for a long, long time. I saw so many old friends that I had not expected to meet."

Evelyn had never been back to W. C. since 1909. She brought her handsome son, Landon, with her. Just one letter like Evelyn's is enough to make Ellen Griffin '40, reunion chairman, forget the work it took to make the reunion a happy occasion.

Jane Summerell was hostess for the College at our luncheon in South Dining Hall. She had everything perfect. However some of the 'naughty niners' forgot their forty years and led by their honorary member Senator Frank Graham, they went down the line to serve their own plates. As soon as Jane got us seated, Lola (Lasley) Dameron of Burlington presented Mrs. Graham a white carnation corsage tied with our class colors blue and white. We fell in love with the charming wife of our senator from North Carolina, and she is now a member of our class. Edna (Duke) Johnson of Mt. Airy, pinned a boutonniere on our class mascot, Robert A. Merritt, a Greensboro attorney. Robert promised to come to our fiftieth reunion. Florence Landis travelled all night from Washington, D. C., so she could be with us. She gave Jane her carnation. Evelyn (Gudger) Roberts gave Frank Graham his flower.

We behaved very much like Freshmen as we talked of old times, old friends, and as we exchanged pictures of our families. We told amusing incidents of 1905-1909. Some of us as Freshmen had a good time jumping over the shrubs down College Avenue. All material for our 1909 Scrap Book will be sent to Nettie (Dixon) Smith. Jean (Booth) Matheson joined us at the Alumnae Meeting. Six out of a membership of 18 is a good record. We had flowers for Mary (Mitchell) Sellers' grave and also for Mr. and Mrs. Guy Roberts' son.

It was a happy occasion and we missed those of you who could not come.

Nettie (Dixon) Smith,
Everlasting President.

CLASS OF 1909 REUNION MAY 28, 1949

Everlasting President
Mrs. S. S. Coe (Verta Idol),
219 Hillcrest Drive,
High Point, N. C.

Eula (Alexander) Grose lives in Statesville. She wrote recently: "My daughter, Mary Jean, finished at A.S.T.C. and is teaching science in the Statesville High Schools."

Lillian (Crisp) Lawrence, Falkland, N. C. "I am teaching the 7th grade in Falkland school. My daughter, Evelyn Gorham Lawrence, will be a member of the sophomore class at Woman's College this coming year."

Verta (Idol) Coe, 219 Hillcrest Drive, High Point. "For fifteen years now, I've been back in the teaching realm—after rearing my two daughters, and following the loss of my husband. One followed in my footsteps and is an English teacher. The other lives with me, she, with her fine husband and three live-wire boys, now seven, four and three. There is never a dull moment in our home! I am principal of the Emma Blair Elementary School here in High Point, and love everything about my work. My 600 boys and girls can't be beat!"

Everlasting President
Mrs. J. H. McEwen (Iris Holt)
Brookwood, Burlington, N. C.

Fan (Darlington) Todd, 601 West Hillcrest, Gastonia. "The most interesting thing I've done during the last few months has been directing Duplicate Bridge tournaments at Gastonia Country Club, Kings Mountain Country Club, and at the Gastonia Woman's Club. Being a Duplicate Bridge tournament director calls for all the faculties of a strict school teacher, for every rule must be followed exactly."

Mary (Green) Matthews writes: "I have completed in May, a two-year term as president of the Thomasville Business and Professional Women's Club. As Librarian at the Thomasville branch of the Davidson County Public Library, I am in touch with much community activity. But my chief interest is in my three grandchildren, two girls, Janet and Paige whose mother is Susannah (Matthews) Newsome '44 and a boy, Roger Hardin Matthews, whose father is Roger Matthews, my son."

Everlasting President
Katherine Erwin
1333 16th Street, Washington, D. C.

Anne Albright wrote in May: "My trips to Woman's College to attend the Social Science Forum, and to Chicago to see a few shows and then attend the annual meeting of National Association of Deans of Women, 'content me' to stay in Cullowhee and Waynesville the rest of the time teaching, counseling and gardening. My college roommate, Mamie Eaton Fleming and our classmate Cora (Sloan) Caldwell visited me in Cullowhee last June. Verta (Idol) Coe, her sister Vera Idol, and Clara Byrd are visiting me in Waynesville in August."

Cora Belle (Sloan) Caldwell is now living at 1501 Fairmont St., Greensboro.

Jeannette (Cox) Amand, 120 S. 16th St., Wilmington, writes: "Returned last week, completing a tour of 12 district meetings, U.D.C. As First Vice-President, N. C. Division, it was my privilege to assist in presenting the work of the U.D.C. We enjoyed beautiful weather except for the last four days when we were in the Piedmont and mountainous sections of the State. While I was in Greensboro, our party had the pleasure of being guests of the Greensboro Historical Book Club, Miss Clara Byrd, President."

Mary Jane (Dorothy) Stimson, RFD 2, Box 133, Morganton, N. C., writes: "Since the death of my husband in June 1945, it has been my good fortune and pleasure to teach again. It has been a greater privilege to teach, because my experience as a wife and mother has given me a closer contact with the value of a good foundation in our education. As Dr. Foust used to tell us: "He that knows that he knows is wise, follow him." It helps to teach if one knows why one needs to know. Life has taught me this. Therefore, my pupils profit partly from my own experiences. Last winter, some 185 or more pupils and I worked together in wrestling with arithmetic, algebra, geometry, and English in Madison High School.

"A serious major operation kept me out of school only four weeks. My health is now excellent. My fifteen-year-old son, Benjamin Eugene, and I are spending the summer at our little cottage on Lake James, where we will be until school opens in the fall."

Sadie (McBrayer) McCain, Southern Pines, N. C., is teaching 5th and 6th grades at Vass Lakeview School in Moore County. She is taking a 4-hour U.N.C. Extension course at Carthage Center and a 2-hour correspondence course. Alberta Monroe '16 teaches at Vass, and Genevieve Moore, another '16 teaches at Aberdeen.

Everlasting President
Mrs. Fred Rypins (Ruth Roth),
615 Woodland Drive, Greensboro.

Gladys (Emerson) Emerson has been living at 1312 West Alameda Ave., Burbank, Calif., since the death of her husband last year.

Nina Belle (Horton) Avery, 1207 Greycourt Ave., Richmond, Va., is attending the Southwest Regional Conference of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Louisville, Ky., in August. She is president of the Richmond Association of Railroad Women and was indorsed for vice-president at the convention of the Virginia Federation of B. and P. W.

Juanita (McDougald) Melchior wrote in July: "I have just returned to my home from a very stimulating trip to Wichita, Kansas, where I assisted in a workshop for teachers sponsored by Wichita University and Board of Education for the Teachers of Wichita. I loved Kansas wheat fields, oil and airplane industry, cattle, and most of all the Kansas spirit which was at the root of a busy, interesting life for all. There was a lot of the pioneer spirit, even in teaching!"

Everlasting President
Mrs. W. B. Richardson
(Marie Lineberger)
244 Maple Ave., Reidsville, N. C.

Esther (Clapp) Jones, Red Oak, N. C. "I'm still trying to improve my flower garden and library."

Mrs. C. Parker Poole
(Mildred Barrington)
Port Bragg Rd., Fayetteville, N. C.

Annie (Cummings) Lassiter, 1910 Nunn St., Wilmington, wrote in May: "My son, William Edmund (better known as Bill) will be a senior at Harvard next year. My daughter, Sarah Channing, will be a junior in high school and is looking forward to going to W. C. My youngest daughter, Anne, enters high school in the fall."

Mary Sue (Weaver) Allison, 414 Westover Terrace, Greensboro. "I continue to teach and love it. My daughter, Sarah Long Allison Hubbard, attended W.C.U.N.C. two years. She transferred to The College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia, from which she graduated with honors, June 12, 1949."

1922

Everlasting President

Mrs. Albert L. Bechtold

(Martha Bradley)

1419 Lexington Avenue, Charlotte.

Mabel (Stamper) Hallenbeck, 50 Rumford Street, West Hartford 7, Conn., wrote in July: "Our daughter, Ann, graduated with honors from high school in June and will enter Oberlin College in Ohio in the fall. Younger daughter, Janet, graduated from Junior High this spring. Both were editors-in-chief of their respective year books. Proud parents!"

1923

Everlasting President

Mrs. A. H. Lathrop

(Virginia Terrell)

4 Woodlink Road, Asheville, N. C.

Mavis (Goodman) Alexander, 3842 Drury Avenue, Macon, Georgia, has been operating her husband's insurance business there since his death. She has two children: Thomas, who expects to graduate from U.N.C. in 1950, and Margery Fay, 10.

Miriam F. Goodwin's new address is 2434 E. 8th Street, Tucson, Arizona.

Catharine (Landon) de Tarnowsky, 815 Maryland Ave., N. E., Washington 2, D. C., writes: "I am working for the Disability Benefits Division of the Welfare and Retirement Fund of United Mine Workers. It is most satisfying, and I am learning about the hazards of mining. My husband is working on what we call 'Business Tools for Economic Interpretation.' He is now in Los Angeles working up some institutes and will present one of the tools at the Colorado Bankers Convention at the end of this month. We—and I do mean we—have spent about four years developing his ideas. That is my real interest in life.

"Hiking is my hobby—yesterday, did about 12 miles and that is one of the shorter trips. When Ivan is here, we spend every week-end camping out in nearby mountains. For a person who never went in for the rugged life, I am doing fairly well."

Virginia (Terrell) Lathrop has been appointed to the University Board of Trustees to serve eight years.

Susie (West) Mendenhall wrote recently: "While en route to Brevard, N. C., taking our son, Dickie, age 15, to the music camp, Transylvania, we had a good visit in Asheville with the Albert Lathrops. Terry Lathrop, age 14, and our son, Dickie, were happy to renew a friendship begun when they were very young while we lived in Burlington. No doubt the Lathrops heaved a great sigh of relief when the Mendenhalls left, for our six-year-old David got lost while looking for the two older boys. While Virginia and I scoured the neighborhood on foot searching for the little lost sheep, and the males (as usual) were riding around looking, up drove two Asheville policemen with lost David. There was great rejoicing and appreciation with sighs of relief. All conceded there is never a dull moment with little boys around. The Lathrops have such a lovely place overlooking the Grove Park Inn Golf Links, so delightfully cool, I recommend all '23's spend their vacation there!" The Mendenhalls live at 197 Highland Avenue, Athens, Ga.

Stella (Williams) Anderson was elected president of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs for the next two years at their meeting in Goldsboro, April 20.

Hettie Mae (Cannon) White, Conway, wrote in May: "I married a lawyer-farmer who was state representative in 1933. He retired from politics when he became Postmaster, which position he now holds along with above mentioned profession. We have four children, three daughters and one son. Kathleen (Cannon) Woodard is a 1945 graduate of W. C.; Mrs. Montie E. Jenkins, who transferred from W. C. after her freshman year to Wake Forest, graduated in 1948, also marrying the same year. She is teaching in Boykins, Va. Betty, the youngest daughter, has interrupted her freshman year at E.C.T.C. at Greenville in favor of marriage which is to take place in the near future. Mr. White and I will be left with a nine-year-old son, R. Jennings, Jr., of whom we are expecting great things. I have no honors, except that of being a mother and a homemaker. I have squeezed in time to be P.-T.-A. president two or three times, local president, district chairman and state First Vice President of the American Legion Auxiliary. At present, my chief activity is serving as local President of Women's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church in Conway. Also Mission Study Chairman of the West Chowan Association and the Elizabeth City Division of our State Women's Missionary Union."

Marita (Frye) Carrithers, Route 4, Box 80, Hickory. "I started my graduate work at Chapel Hill in '46 in School Health work, but had to transfer to Appalachian at Boone so I can be near home and my mother who is in very poor health. I hope to get my Master's in August '50 in the field of elementary education, that being the only field offered there at present. I am also doing right much church work, Woman's Club, and B.P.W. Club work and for the first time in my life I am thoroughly enjoying gardening with the help of a couple of my little eighth grade boys."

Sara (Griggs) Oden, who lives in Washington, D. C., has a daughter at Woman's College.

Martha (Hamilton) Morgan makes her home in Spartanburg, S. C., where her husband is head of the department of English and Dean of the Faculty of Converse College. They have two sons, 13 and nine.

Sarah (Hamilton) Matheson and her husband, who is a retired Presbyterian Minister, live in Gainesville, Fla., and spend the summer in Western North Carolina. She does substitute teaching and is very active in church and A.A.U.W. work.

Ann (Harrelson) Floyd who taught school for a while, is now a buyer for the ready-to-wear department of Ellis, Stone & Co.

Alice (Harrold) Lee, 127 Edwin Place, Asheville, is Vice-Chairman of the Asheville City School Board. Her elder daughter, Betsy, will enter Woman's College this fall.

Blanche (Hedgecock) Owen, who lives near High Point, has been a widow for fifteen years. She helped organize the 4-H Club work in Guilford County and has taught school, operated a farm, and reared her own child and two of her brother's children.

Sara Virginia (Heilig) Stevens lives in Salisbury, where she taught for several years. Their son finished Junior High this year.

Catherine (Hollister) Morrison lives in Gastonia, and has three children, a son at State College and two daughters, 15 and 12.

Annie Lee Yates is on the library staff at Florida State College, Tallahassee, Fla.

1924 Silver Anniversary

A gala luncheon was held with 41 members of the class present at Bliss Restaurant, in the Colonial Room, mind you! with beautiful table arrangements of lavender and white flowers and fans. (No, indeed, we did not use those fans.) Heart of lettuce salad with Thousand Island dressing, fried chicken, fresh English peas, snowflake potatoes, hot biscuits, ice cream, and coffee. We looked well-fed, and our College appetites were still with us.

Ethel (Royer) Kesler was a gracious presiding officer, extending greetings, introducing speakers, and recognizing efficient committees. Julia (Ross) Lambert was over-all chairman, with Helon (Murchison) Tucker, Lois (Barrette) Hunter, Nell (Stewart) Nichols, Blossom (Hudnell) Thomas, Louisa (Sherwood) Homewood, Jewel (Sumner) Kirkman, and Olive (Webb) Wharton, as invaluable assistants.

Sara (Hamilton) Matheson returned thanks.

Although stating that Dr. Jackson needed no introduction, Olive Webb Wharton presented our choice honor guest and Mrs. Jackson. Dr. Jackson, in the spirit of the occasion, indulged in humorous reminiscences, emphasizing the highlights of the 1924 Exercises.

After Ann (Hornaday) Henry had passed around her annual to be photographed, Ethel asked each one of us to brag and boast to our heart's content of our husbands, children, and careers. We were not bashful.

We can't tell all the interesting facts and figures: so we'll give superlatives.

Ruth (Wilkins) Sykes, too good looking for adjectives, has the largest family: two girls and two boys.

Blanche (Hedgecock) Owen has lived the college motto of Service to the fullest: homemaker, teacher, church worker, community worker, and graduate student — achieving much with her tireless devotion.

Mary (Brannock) Blauch has earned her Ph.D. and also has a three-year-old son.

Bertha (McRorie) Dalton has the class baby: her third child is just two and a half.

Ann (Harrelson) Floyd, who looked like a fashion plate, is buyer in the ready-to-wear salon at Ellis-Stone.

Cleo (Mitchell) Espy came from New Haven, Conn., and Sudie (Mitchell) Gillespie traveled 1200 miles from Texas to meet at the 25th.

Jewel (Sumner) Kirkman voiced the happy sentiments of us all with her remark "I'm enjoying being this age better than any so far."

Rena Cole Parks.

1926 Reunion

Twenty members of the Class of 1926 attended the Reunion Luncheon held on Saturday, May 28th, at Mrs. Martha Cook Coleman's home on Spring Garden Street. The Reunion Luncheon was a wonderful affair, and all of us are looking forward to our great Twenty-fifth Reunion in 1951. Do begin to make your plans to attend!

A special committee, headed by Marjorie Hood and helped by Mary (Polk) Gordon (who made the attractive little favors of tiny paper umbrellas bearing the numerals "26") and Hermene (Warlick) Eichhorn, had made arrangements for the Reunion, and for the Luncheon, which was served buffet style from a table which was decorated by a centerpiece of yellow and white flowers which, with the green foliage, bore out the colors of both the College and our Class.

Following the reading of the minutes of the last Class meeting, and the signing of names for the records, there was an election of officers, as follows: President, Hermene (Warlick) Eichhorn; Secretary-Treasurer, Eleanor (Vanneman) Benson. These officers were elected to serve until the big Silver Reunion. During the short business session, expenses of the letter sent out before the Reunion were met by a "passing of the hat."

But the principal matter of business consisted in remembering classmates present and absent. Those of you who were not present were very much missed, and we look forward to seeing you in 1951.

Hermene (Warlick) Eichhorn,
President.

Dr. Jernigan Resigns

Dr. C. C. Jernigan has resigned as head of the department of Classical Civilization to accept the position of head of the Classics Department at Florida State College, Tallahassee.

Mary (Craven) Stephens, 1411 Acadia St., Durham, "My main interest now is a daughter at Woman's College, class of 1951."

Anne (McIntyre) Douglas teaches sixth grade in Lumberton. She is active in church and school. Her son, Sam, Jr., is 10 years old.

Mary Louise (Respass) Ervin, 1207 N. Gregson Street, Durham. "I had a visit recently from a college roommate, Mary Parker (Fryer) Williams. She and her husband had a vacation in Bermuda in May. Her daughter, Mary Lou, graduated at U.N.C. in June, and her younger daughter, Frances Ann, graduated from Reidsville High School."

Zada (Wright) Fair's new address is 810 W. Davidson Avenue, Gastonia, N. C.

Everlasting President
Minnie Walker,
Cabarrus County Hospital,
Concord, N. C.

Ruth (Bellamy) Brownwood wrote in June that she and her son were leaving Catalina Island and moving to Enfield, N. C., due to the illness of her father.

Martha (Biggs) Thompson, Rom Ross Apts., Asheboro, is busy with the transition from a professional life to one of homemaker and mother. "Little Bill Thompson arrived in August and keeps us very busy and very happy." She is doing her husband's office work and spends part time with the Tuberculosis Association in the county.

Eva Bowden, Marston, N. C. "I have practically completed the recataloging of the Flora Macdonald College Library. I am joining the staff of the Library Section, Technical Information Branch, U. S. Atomic Commission at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, on June 5."

Catherine (Cherry) Smith's new address is 1536 Rankin Road, Greensboro.

Mary Lou (Fuller) Abbott's new address is 132 Owen Ave., Lansdowne, Pennsylvania.

Frances (Gibson) Satterfield, 2607 Forrest Way, NE, Atlanta, Georgia. "Resolved to rest from all office holding and concentrate a bit on some writing. I am free lancing for several southern and a number of national trade journals."

Mary Louise (McDearman) Holzapfel, III, 1143 Hamilton Boulevard, Hagerstown, Md. "We moved to a house on April 1st and celebrated our daughter's first birthday the next day. I was fortunate in securing an excellent trained nurse last summer and resumed my position as librarian of the Washington County Free Library on September 1st after a six months leave of absence."

Iris (Stith) Reed and her husband, Harry, presented a two-piano and organ concert at the Methodist Church in Harrisburg, Ill., March 8, 1949, proceeds from which ($203.50) were used toward the church building fund.

"One Sunday last winter our minister distributed $10.00 bills to all who would take them. We were to consider them a talent and increase them as much as possible. When Harry suggested that we give a concert, I looked at him in amazement and was quite pessimistic about its possibilities. Nevertheless, we set to work with that in mind and used all our spare time practicing. It turned out very well, and we had an enthusiastic audience of more than 400. Harry wore white tie and tails, and I wore my wedding gown (minus the train), white taffeta, with seed pearl trimming. We assumed our very best concert manners and tried to be quite dignified for this one concert."

The local paper commenting on the 'talent' program said:

"The large crowd which came to hear a program of familiar music was delighted with the Reeds' playing and equally impressed by their charm... Needless to say the financial return from the program was more than heartening; but even if it hadn't been, the evening had its rewards in ways not measurable in dollars and cents."

Clara Will's new address is 328 Hillsboro Street, Raleigh.

Elizabeth (Wilson) Kerr of Alexandria, Va., spent July in Greensboro with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. A. Wilson. Her daughters, Martha, eight, and Catherine, three, were with her.

Blanche (Steele) Reitzel is principal of Wayside School in Statesville.

Betty (Steinhardt) Widmer, Aulander, N. C., stays busy and interested as usual in all activities of county, state and nation. She and her husband, Ray, were here for the commencement week-end.

Virginia (Van Dalsem) Woltz lives in Greensboro. They have two sons.

Virginia Ward, 1919 Market Street, Wilmington. "I believe in my work here as Coordinator, Family Life Community Program. It is an opportunity to do a creative piece of work."

Athleen (Whisnant) Farris lives in Gastonia. Her daughter is three years old.

Elsie Mae (Winstead) Davis, 116 West 8th St., Scotland Neck, writes: "I surely did enjoy what I saw of commencement, looking over the campus, seeing friends, and attending our twentieth class reunion. My! how the years are passing. Theresa (Marks) Condrey and I drove to Greensboro on Saturday of commencement week-end and took her daughter, Alethia, age 12, and my daughter, Anne Winstead, age 6, with us. They enjoyed the trip as much as we, apparently. Unless they change their minds, they hope to be alumnae in due time.

Woman's College Freshman Chosen for European Trip

A four-months visit to Europe began in June for Miss Carolyn Smith, Woman's College freshman, of Andrews, who was chosen one of twenty-seven young men and women from twenty states as International Farm Youth Exchange students. The first North Carolina girl to be chosen, Miss Smith was named on the basis of her seven-year record of activity in 4-H club work. The students will visit Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Belgium, Holland, France, and England, separating to take an individual period of residence in various countries. Miss Smith is preparing to become a home demonstration agent, in the Department of Home Economics.

1929 Reunion Luncheon

Our 20th reunion was a wonderful occasion and those of us who were here surely wished for you who did not come.

The high spot of Alumnae Day was of course our luncheon at the Chicken Shack out on the High Point Road. Thirty 29'ers chatted incessantly and each one told about what she had been doing for the past twenty years. It was such fun checking up on those of us who were there, as well as many of you absent ones.

Ruth Clinard, who is executive secretary for the Red Cross in Greensboro, was local luncheon chairman and did a grand job of making all arrangements.

The College Song and the Class Song were lustily rendered by the gay crowd. Frances (Gibson) Satterfield '28, retiring president of the Alumnae Association, was our special guest and we all enjoyed having her so very much.

Betty (Steinhardt) Widmer came from Aulander and Mattie Query Esleek was here from Portsmouth, Va.

We did miss each one of you who was absent and hope you'll begin now to make plans to come back in 1954 for our 25th.

Virginia Kirkpatrick,
Everlasting President.

Betty (Sloan) McAllister, of Maplewood, N. J., has two sons, Dan, 11 and James, 11½, 9. Her husband is with the Bank of New York. Betty was visiting in Greensboro in July. She had previously been to White Lake for a Sloan family reunion. She reports that she is interested in Sunday School, Scouting, and Parent-Teacher activities, and is the president of her local P.-T. A.

Mat-Moore (Taylor) Stanton of Hong Kong, China, and her husband are spending the summer with her mother, Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 616 Franklin Street, Roanoke Rapids. Mr. Stanton is on vacation from the Jardine Steamship Co. in Hong Kong.

Everlasting President
Mrs. John E. Sockwell
(Jane Wharton),
414 Church St., Greensboro, N. C.

Eloise Banning, The Chalfonte, 1601 Argonne Place, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes that since December 1941, she has been back in Washington and is now Public Welfare Adviser for the Federal Security Administration.

Eloise took her Master's in Social Work at Western Reserve University and has also taken courses at Pennsylvania School of Social Work and University of North Carolina.

She has done social work in Raleigh, and throughout N. C., was associated for several years with the W.P.A. staff in N. C. A fall in her apartment last August caused her to take an enforced rest at her home in Raleigh, until December.

"The dinner on May 20th and our luncheon for Senator and Mrs. Graham were so nice. Since I couldn't get back to commencement, I took in all events here to make me feel less deprived."

Miriam (Block) Lubin, who has two daughters, Joan and Beth, had planned to attend commencement, but a chicken pox exposure prevented her coming.

Lucile (Clark) Cornatzer teaches school in Advance. She says she has teaching in her blood, and can't seem to give it up.

Ellie (Curran) Mitchell lives in Oxford.

Hilda (Davidson) Wharton, who lives in Greensboro, has a young daughter. She reported at the Reunion Luncheon that she keeps house the hard way, but she didn't say what the easy way is.

Annie (Fawcett) Jackson lives in Mount Airy.

Mary Fowle (Perry) Vance attended the reunion luncheon and reported a new baby and a new house in her family.

Matilda (Geiger) Wolfe is living in Winston-Salem, and has two children.

Peggy (Hanna) Leavitt, 2430 Broome St., Gainesville, Fla., has two children, Abbie Compton 6½, and Bruce Champion 3. Her husband is professor of biology at the University of Florida.

Louisa Hatch teaches in High Point. Dalice (Howard) Cram of Fayetteville, has four children.

Virginia (Johnson) Storey and her husband, who is a physician, live at 3387 Macon Rd., Columbus, Ga. They have three children, twin boys, age seven, and a daughter, eight.

Anne (McDowell) Goulden, everlasting cheerleader for the Class of '31, was on campus for commencement.

Kat (Morgan) Kirkman of High Point, has four children. Her husband is an ex-mayor of High Point, and represented Guilford County in the 1949 General Assembly.

Ermine Neal wrote from Colorado Springs, that she is teaching in a school for deaf children.

Olive (Newell) Shepherd, who lives in Greensboro, came to the Alumnae Buffet Supper at Commencement, but was unable to attend the reunion luncheon.

Willie (Pritchard) Matthews, Seaboard, has been elected president of the Woman's Society of Christian

1931 Reunion

There were 17 members of the Class of '31 at our reunion luncheon, and one more. Anne (McDowell) Goulden was on the campus, yet escaped us. Olive (Newell) Shepherd appeared for the alumnae supper, but was unable to attend the luncheon. Frances (Hampton) Goodrich from Washington also joined us, since her class ('30) did not have a reunion this year.

We met at Starmount Country Club and gathered around one long table which Kate (Robinson) Farr had decorated beautifully with red and white flowers. Kate lives in Greensboro and is busy as a bee. She has two little girls, not to mention an attractive husband, but has found time to work actively on our Alumnae Board for the last two years. She is interested in church activities, her garden club, and is local D.A.R. Regent.

Dr. Ruth Collings, our honorary faculty member, honored us again with her company. We all agreed that she has changed less in the last 18 years than any of the rest of us! She is just as jolly and good-humored as ever.

It was a sad occasion for Ellie (Curran) Mitchell, for she has lost two of her '31 roommates, Lib McLaughlin and Lib (Chittenden) McGlamery, in the last two years. Lib, as you of course remember, was our everlasting vice-president, so, at Commencement last year, we bought with most of our remaining class funds, in memory of her, a silver candelabra for the Alumnae House. Ellie lives in Oxford and came to the luncheon with Helen (Hight) Davis from Greensboro. Both are "happy homemakers" from all appearances.

Each member told what she had been up to for the past eighteen years and it was good to hear news of absent ones. We all decided the years had been kind to us and are looking forward to our Twentieth in 1951.

Mary Jane (Wharton) Sockwell,
Everlasting President.

Service of Seaboard Methodist Church.

Martha (Shore) Martin, 45 E. Vanderbilt Ave., Orlando, Fla., has two children, Berney, nine years old, and Beth, two years old.

Sallie Stott's address is 1329 E. Woodlawn, Norfolk, Va.

May (Swan) Stroud of Kinston, everlasting class treasurer, was unable to attend the reunion because of a recent operation.

Annie Lee (Thompson) Hutton lives on Pinecroft Road, Greensboro. She has four children.

Nell (Thurman) Morrisett, who lives in Greensboro, has three children, Edward, DeWitt, and John Thurman.

Henrietta Wallace was unable to attend the reunion luncheon, but she wrote that she and her twin sister, Frances, still look alike. Henrietta still lives in Statesville. Frances is married to Mr. Leonard J. Edwards and has three children.

Nellie G. Wheeler's new address is N. C. School for the Deaf, Morganton.

1934 Reunion Luncheon

The highlight of our reunion was our class reunion luncheon in South Dining Hall. It seemed like old times to see Margaret (Plonk) Isley. Margaret now has two children, a boy and a girl. Her daughter was recently chosen May queen of her class in Burlington. Margaret's husband, Sessler Carlyle Isley, has just been elected mayor of Burlington.

We were glad to see Elizabeth (Sockwell) Scott and Margaret (Winder) Haley. They came to express Adelaide (Fortune) Holderness' regrets at not being able to be with us and to give us the news of the Greensboro alumnae. So many pictures of attractive, bright-eyed children were passed around that at this point we became confused. All we know is that the Class of 1934 has some good prospects for daughters of Woman's College.

Among the '34's returning were: Alice Armfield, Sara Boger, Mary Neal

(Brown) Spencer, Ann Coogan, Helen (Cornwell) Croom, Myrtle (Fulenwider) Gifford, Louise M. Horner, Louise (Murchison) Bowers, Gladys (Neal) Douglass, Margaret (Plonk) Isley, Lailora (Sally) Ehrhardt, Jr., Elizabeth (Sackwell) Scott, Margaret (Winder) Haley, and Anna (Woodhouse) Greene.

We were fortunate in being seated next to the Class of 1909, where Senator and Mrs. Frank Graham were special guests. We were all thrilled when Senator Graham, at the end of the meal, came over to our table and shook hands with each of us. Those of us who were able to stay for the Alumnae meeting in the afternoon had the privilege of hearing Senator Graham and Dr. Jackson speak.

Our time together seemed all too short. We missed all of you who were absent and wish that you could have been with us. We hope to see more of you at our next reunion. In the meantime, please write in more news.

Alice Armfield,
Everlasting President.

Alice Marie Squires, 19 Jackson Street, North Warren, Pennsylvania. "The year 1949 is an enforced sabbatical year for me as I underwent two spinal fusions in January. I resigned February 1 as rural missionary for the Pennsylvania Baptist convention as the doctor said I must take at least a year off from active service. Now early in May, I expect to enter a sanatorium for treatment. I manage to keep busy and have just enrolled in the Christian Writers' Guild which offers a study course of training for religious writing. I have had a few articles printed in Baptist periodicals and hope that with additional training I can do more of this type of work during my convalescence."

1939 Tenth Reunion

Almost eighty members of the class of '39 gathered in South Dining Hall for the big tenth reunion luncheon. You've never heard so many "hello's" or seen so many folks grinning from ear to ear. We had a fine lunch and once again weakened the rafters with our class song. After trying to shout over the clatter of dishes (it still can't be done), we adjourned to Maxine Garner's territory in South Spencer for a post-luncheon meeting and get-together.

Emily (Harris) Preyer wasn't there—but it took 3,000 miles of ocean to keep her away. The treasurer's report caused such prolonged and uncontrolled laughter that it almost broke up the meeting. When things calmed down, we discussed suggestions for the use of our class funds. It was decided that $25.00 be set aside for the Sarah Atkinson Loan Fund and the balance (about $400.00) be turned over to the campus committee in charge of aid to foreign students—to be used to cover the expenses of a foreign student at W. C. We "passed the hat" and added nearly $50.00 more. Additional contributions should be sent to Miss Bernice Draper, Woman's College.

With the business out of the way, we set about "catching up" in earnest. Each of us stood up and gave a quick—and often hilarious—personal resume to bring folks up to date. The long distance prizes went to Mary (Cochrane) Austin who flew from Pensacola and Jeanne (Carey) Reynolds who came all the way from Elmira, N. Y.

I wish I had enough space to pass on all the news to those of you who were not able to come back "home" for reunion. It was a wonderful experience and worlds of fun. I'm sure we won't ever forget it.

Until our next big reunion rolls around, let's keep in touch with each other via the Alumnae News. It will make No. 15 even more fun.

Trudy (Rainey) Creede.

American Alumni Council Meets in Williamsburg July 11-14

Woman's College was represented at the annual meeting of the American Alumni Council held in Williamsburg, Va., July 11-14 by Betty B. Jester, alumnae secretary. Three hundred thirty-nine delegates representing colleges from all parts of the United States and Canada met for four days to discuss problems common to all and to hear experts in various fields of alumni activity.

The well-planned program under the direction of Mr. Hill Turner, of Vanderbilt University, included such outstanding speakers as Dr. J. L. Morrill, president of the University of Minnesota; Dr. Arthur S. Fleming, president of Ohio Wesleyan; Judge Dorothy Kenyon, of New York; Dr. William G. Avirett, educational director of the New York Herald-Tribune; Dr. Wilfred P. Shaw, director of Alumni Relations at the University of Michigan; and Mr. Vernon M. Geddy, president of the Society of Alumni and Council of Colonial Williamsburg. Small discussion groups on the alumni magazines, fund-raising, faculty-student-alumni relationships, and various classifications of colleges and secondary schools all with able leaders, constituted a large part of the program.

Highlight of entertainment was the performance of Paul Green's "The Common Glory," the formal banquet and dance at Williamsburg Inn.

Mr. William Gibson, alumni secretary of University of Minnesota, president of the council, presided at most of the sessions. Mr. Chesley Worthington of Brown University is the new president.

Mr. Charlie McCurdy of William and Mary was in charge of local arrangements for the session.

Representatives left the conference stimulated with new ideas and inspiration for greater service to the alumni and to their institutions.

1940 Reunion

Twenty-eight of us had a wonderful reunion May 28, and we really missed the rest of you. The luncheon was buffet style at Mrs. Hedgepeth's out on North Park Drive and it was delicious. Mary Cecile (Higgins) Bridges was chairman of the arrangements and really took care of everything.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. James Painter (English Department), Miss Mereb Mossman (Sociology Department), and Miss Helen Burns (Freshman Class Chairman). We all enjoyed hearing from them about the College and progress that is being made.

Lettie (Hamlett) Rogers is teaching creative writing at W. C. and also is completing her second novel: Marion (Okell) Murch was here from Rochester, N. Y., and reported two daughters: Margaret (Mosser) Landers lives in Baton Rouge, La., and was here with her year-old son, visiting her parents. Ellen Griffin, who was general chairman for reunions, took time out to join us for lunch. Incidentally, the costume exhibit she managed in Alumnae House was most interesting.

Our Ninth Reunion was a huge success and do begin now making your plans to come next year for our tenth. The more who come, the more fun it is for everyone. See you next year.

ficer with the Veterans Administration in Washington, D. C.

Sarah (Ramsaur) Heyward and her husband who is pastor of the Presbyterian Church, live in Raeford. They have two children, Mary Hamilton, five, and Nathaniel James, II, three.

Ellen (Self) Cooper and her husband live in Henderson. Ellen writes: "Have an eight-room house and no children—but do have a mother cocker spaniel and her five young ones. Alternate between Henderson, Asheville and Morehead City, where we have a cottage. I am educational secretary for the Episcopal Church, president of the Hospital Guild, and next year's president of the Junior Garden Clubs—all of which keep me rather busy."

Adelaide (Shuford) Teague and her husband live in Hickory, where Mr. Teague is sales manager for the Pepsi-Cola Company.

Celeste (Spivey) Sawyer, 406 N. Road Street, Elizabeth City. "We have a young son, Charles Byron Sawyer, born September 18, 1948. At seven months Charles weighs 32 pounds! I visited my sister Anne (Spivey) Wim-bish '43 in Greensboro recently. Also had a grand visit with Faith (Whit-lark) Tabbutt '41."

Helen (Sweet) Vandercook, Norwalk Girl Scout Association, 3 Ann Street, South Norwalk, Conn. "This is surely one happy life for me! We were married on April 21, and then toured the New England States, spending a week at a lovely country home in upperstate Connecticut. We're both back in Norwalk now at work again, and I am staying on as Executive Director of the Norwalk Girl Scout Association, while Dave is working as a radio and television technician. Some of my classmates will remember Dave—he came to our Sophomore Prom from our hometown in Scranton, Pennsylvania. You know how it is, 'hometown sweethearts' married happily after all these years."

Elizabeth (Teague) Wood and her husband live in Rockingham. Little

Thomas Phillips Wood, Jr., is 5½ months old.

Helen Williams, 510 Rugby Road, Charlottesville, Va., has been selected a "visiting member" of the University of Virginia Phi Beta Kappa, and will do further graduate work at U.N.C. this summer.

Jean (Williams) Hamilton wrote in May: "As I write this, spring has come to Chicago and it is a blessed relief from all the cold, cold wind and dirty coal dust. This life is a far cry from that which we knew and loved in sunny California, but we hope the two years it will require for Bob to get his degree here at Northern Illinois College of Optometry will pass quickly. I am anticipating a visit with my parents in North Carolina within a month or two. This will be especially nice for my two girls, age 17 months and 30 months, as there is limited space in the vicinity of our apartment building for them to play. I did so enjoy the Alumnae Dinner meeting which was held here in Chicago last month. Listening to Miss Taylor talk of the progress being made in so many different departments at Woman's College was like a shot in the arm for one who has been away from N. C. as long as I have." Her new address is 915 East 42nd St., Chicago.

Carolyn (Wilson) Chichester. "We are soon to move to Washington, D. C. Mr. Chichester is now Chief, Entertainment Section, Army Recreation Service, Department of the Army. In March, I had a chance to return to my old love—the theatre—and starred as Regina in the Civic Theatre production of 'Little Foxes' here in Waco, Texas."

Carolyn (Wolfe) Ashcraft, 216 Colleton Rd., Raleigh, has a daughter, Ann, aged three. She and her husband have returned from a trip to Philadelphia where they visited Mrs. J. C. Lockhart, Jr. (Sara Joyner '40) and her family.

1941 Reunion Luncheon

The Class of '41 had a grand reunion during the 57th Commencement. We had luncheon in the Home Economics Cafeteria. There were twenty-six of us back and you can just imagine the chatter that went on in our dining room. Our group was especially honored, and I'm not so sure but what we were the only group so honored, as Marjorie Norton Bishop had brought her husband with her, and he entered right into the spirit of the day and seemingly had just as good a time as we did. We sat at a U-shaped table and had two lovely arrangements of blue and white flowers. One of these had to be moved as more and more of our classmates came in. It was real good to see so many familiar faces, but we surely missed that of our everlasting president, Lib Patten Bradford, who was ill and could not get here. She sent her greetings and good wishes, though, to all of us. We were pleased too, to have Miss Shivers as our guest. Just like old times!

After lunch, Miss Shivers welcomed us with a nice little speech and suggested that each of us tell what we were doing with ourselves now. We started with Carolyn Willis—she is changing jobs this summer, leaving the Baptist Hospital at Winston-Salem for a bigger and better job in Boston, and came on around the table to Mary Miller who told us she had come back to graduate all over again—yes, she got her Master's Degree in Home Economics this year. She is now interior decorator at Ivey's in Charlotte.

Helen Williams told us she had 150 boys of her own—she is the only female member of the teaching faculty at the University of Virginia—teaching Spanish! Margaret Coit is just before having a book published on John C. Calhoun, and I could just go on and on about the jobs, babies, housekeeping, etc., but I was supposed to write only a short note about the luncheon, and it has turned out to be quite lengthy. I must say that we had news of those who could not be with us too, and learned of new names, new babies, and new jobs. And we had pictures to see too, each proud mama having written on the back of the photographs the name and age of her offspring.

We really, sincerely hope that more and more of us can get together at the next reunion. We will be having our tenth in 1951! My, how the time flies!

Josephine (Howard) Munson wrote in June: "In November, 1946, I sailed for Europe to join my husband, First Lt. Arthur L. Munson, who at that time was stationed in Weiden, a small village in Germany bordering on Czechoslovakia. For two years and four months I was in Germany, living in Weiden for four days, in Regensburg (Germany's oldest city, located in Southern Germany—Bavaria—and on the Danube), in Straubing, and finally in Landshut which is two hours from Munich, the capital of Bavaria. While in Europe, I visited Strausburg and Paris in France; Wels, Salzburg, Linz, and Vienna in Austria; I was in Prague, Czechoslovakia, three times and in Pilsen once; I was on tour through Italy and skied in Switzerland. The experience, while at once depressing, lonesome, and often monotonous, was one I shall never forget. There were many things to see, to learn; things which the people of the United States still do not know and perhaps cannot appreciate. I have collected insurmountable piles of notes and shall try to write them into book form in the near future. Since I have been home these past three months, I have made sixteen talks on Germany to various civic organizations. Also, I wrote and enacted the part of a Czech girl in a radio play which was broadcast over WFNC on May 15, commemorating 'I Am An American' day. There are still so many things to say, so many things to write, I shall leave that for my book and hope that my classmates may share this experience with me through the pages of this book." Josephine is at home at 402 Rollingwood Circle, Fayetteville.

Just a week later, Danny (age nine months at the time) rolled off the bed and broke his leg. He was in traction in the hospital for four long weeks. I stayed with him—even spent the nights. Then we had two weeks of a big heavy cast from his waist to his toes—another two weeks of keeping him from standing—but it's good as new now and I'm so thankful there are no ill effects. I had lunch with Wyche Adams '43 in Charlotte last week and heard all her exciting wedding plans."

Jean (Crosby) Hutchinson wrote during June: "After leaving Woman's College, I went through three years of nurses training at Massachusetts, then two years in the Army Nurse Corps. Have been married nearly three years. I am office nurse to a plastic surgeon. My husband graduated from Trinity College last summer." The Hutchinsons live at 158 Collins Street, Hartford, Conn.

"I am still at Memorial Hospital in Charlotte, along with Nell Stephens '44 and two of the class of '48 — Brady Daniel and Katina Michaels who are student technicians here. "Welshie" Davidson of the class of '47 is a technician, too. I was thrilled with seeing a lot of the girls with whom I had lost touch at a recent alumnae banquet—the one at which Dr. Jackson was speaker. Most of them are married and raising families and it was fun to talk over the good old days at W.C. I am still doing some work at the Charlotte Little Theater under the direction of Tom Humble, and enjoying it thoroughly. We did "Candle Light" last month, and ran it for twelve performances, which was a real source of satisfaction to the entire cast."

Doris Lopp '47, is a sophomore in the same office. Right now my thoughts are all on summer vacation. Last year, Hal and I had a wonderful tour of the New England States and Canada. This year we are trying for California."

Violet M. Canega wrote: "I have been teaching in East Hampton, Long Island, New York, which is a summer resort at the ocean's side and which is the home of John Howard Payne, who wrote, 'Home Sweet Home.' It has been wondrous fun to teach a fourth grade of twenty-two cherubs, to mingle with a faculty young in years and personality, to have all necessary supplies with which to teach, to have free periods in which to prepare lessons. The 'Bonicas'—name given to the natives—welcome their teachers and have showered 'Northern' hospitality on this Southern 'gal.' I have had the lead in two plays at the Guild Hall Theater in the village; have sung in the church choir and choral concerts, have read poetry for the 'Art Homes'; have picked my first cranberries; have had on my first skis! Two of my pupils made me very proud by winning first place and honorable mention in the Village Art Contest."

Lois (Hutton) Keels, 123 N. Person St., Raleigh, is working in Raleigh for the Carolina Power & Light Co., while her husband is studying at State College, where he will get his degree in June 1950.

Jeann Johnson wrote in May: "I have finished my courses at New York University's Institute of Fine Arts for an M.A. in the History of Art (Specializing in Oriental art) and am sailing for Europe in June for a first-hand view of the paintings and buildings I have been seeing in photographs and books. After attending summer school at the Cinquentenaire in Brussels, I'll travel in France and Italy, probably staying briefly in Switzerland, the Rhineland, Holland and England. Then next spring, with good luck, I hope to finish up my thesis and degree."

Irene Kossov is studying at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn. She plans to work with the Red Cross there when she finishes studying.

Audrey Irene (Lum) Fanarella, 1608 17th St., N.W., Washington 9, D. C., writes: "This past May, I attended the spring luncheon of the Washington chapter of the Alumnae Association. They had as guest speaker, Senator Frank Graham—he gave a wonderful talk about W. C. It was really an excellent meeting."

Mary Louise (Owen) Magness, Jr. "Ernie is in school here at U.N.C., and since last September, with living conditions in Chapel Hill as they are, we have lived in one room and shared kitchen privileges with two other couples and another lady—seven in all, in one little old kitchen! The boys all have 8 o'clock classes and if you don't think it's like Grand Central Station down there, you should be present some time. June promises an apartment in Victory Village, though, and we can hardly wait.

"In order that the students' wives will have opportunities to become acquainted, and form varied social programs and groups of their own, there is a wonderful organization called the Carolina Dames Club here at U.N.C. This past year, I have been Treasurer of the organization, and have also belonged to several of the smaller groups which make up the whole."

Dianne (Page) Bench, with her two sons, Scotty and Timmy, left in July to join her husband in Germany. Address: c/o Capt. H. G. Bench, 9190-A, Hq. 86th Air Base Group, Neubiberg, APO 407, c/o Postmaster, New York City.

Ruth (Royal) Baines, who lives in Lexington, Va., visited Greensboro in April and brought her year-old son, David, over to the college.

Lee (Sherrill) Mathews and her family live at 28 Earlewood Gardens, Columbia, S. C. Lee wrote recently: "We are in the process of organizing an alumnae chapter here in Columbia. Our next meeting is in September. Personally, I haven't much news to report. My days are filled taking care of Becky and the numerous things that come up! I do wish more of my classmates would contribute news to the magazine—that's about the only way we can keep 'in touch' with one another."

Sara Ellen Smithson's new address is P. O. Box 277, Oteen, N. C.

Mary Frances Sutton, 2715 Willow Dr., Charlotte, says: "I'm back in the insurance business but with a different company and I like it fine. My dear class, you should have seen or rather heard me lead the College Song at the Mecklenburg Chapter Meeting. It was really a howl. That was a good meeting. When you people come to Charlotte, call me at Employers Mutuals of Wisconsin. I'm always full of gossip."

Carol Van Sickle, 84 Valley View Avenue, Ridgewood, N. J. "I'm still working in New York City, and wouldn't trade it for the world! See several alumnae often—Elaine Simpson '45; Sue Walker '44. However, much as I love New York, it was a real thrill to visit the campus in March and spend a night in Alumnae House! The campus is certainly changed, but then that's a good sign. And as for the people, especially the faculty, they're just the same; and that is the greatest compliment I could pay them!"

Gladys (Wager) Clarke and her husband have moved to Crozet, Virginia. Gladys writes that she would enjoy hearing from any alumnae in that section—near Charlottesville, Va. Eloise Whitson, 22 Finale Ave., Asheville, is doing secretarial work.

Betty (Bostian) Caddell, 202 Memorial Hwy., Tampa, Fla., writes: "My father is going into the chicken business down here. He's building a house now, and the family will move down in July. You can imagine what doting grandparents will do to my nine months old daughter, Ann! Glenn Thompson '46 and Lucky Hiers have just moved into their new house, and it's very near our apartment."

Virginia Lee (Commander) Bell and her husband live at 2223 H Street, N. W., Apt. 105, Washington, D. C. Mr. Bell graduated on June 30 from

1946 Reunion Luncheon

The Class of '46 held its meeting at the Junior Woman's Club on May 28. Our class reunion luncheon was a very delightful occasion, and how we missed every one of you who were absent. We were very pleased to have about thirty girls there, along with Miss Martus, our class chairman. Needless to say, we wasted no time in learning about each and everyone—what they are doing, where they were living, what their husbands were doing, and how many children would be sent to W. C. by our class thus far.

Unfortunately, Betty Jane (Sarratt) Cowan could not be with us, but Miss Martus brought along some pictures of little Jane which had been sent in. We hope to have more of a collection of class pictures next year for our meeting. Miss Martus has offered to look after a class scrapbook, and pictures to be sent to her at the College. So, begin now sending in pictures of yourself and your family.

We enjoyed singing our Class Song and the College Song. It was surprising how many of the words we remembered! Kat Cole returned thanks, and we had a delicious meal. Mary Martin Lindsey acted as our secretary in place of Norma (Perry) Poe, who couldn't be with us. Susan Darden read the treasurer's report for Agnes Manson, who was in Washington, D. C., and could not make the meeting. We were disappointed that Miss Alexander could not be with us, but we found many things to talk about.

Betty (Yost) Little was in charge of all arrangements in Greensboro and we give special thanks to her for a grand job.

Betty Jane (Sarratt) Cowan has moved to Florida. Her new address is, Mrs. Robert LeRoy Cowan, Jr., 5230 N.E. Second Court, Miami, Fla.

I wish that every member of the Class of '46 could have been with us. We hope to have you next year.

Sarah (Moss) Clark,

George Washington University. Virginia Lee is soloist for St. Margaret's Episcopal Church in Washington.

Ruth (Cooling) Matt's new address is 111 S. 38th Street, Philadelphia 4, Pennsylvania.

Elizabeth (Davenport) Browder, Box 612, Weldon, writes: "On our way back from Florida in January, we stopped to see Lib White '46 and Eleanor (Strong) Barkley '46. Had a wonderful time talking about the good old days at W. C."

Betty (Dixon) Paschal, 1617 Queen St., Winston-Salem, wrote in June: "My husband is with Sears, Roebuck, and I am woman's editor of the Twin City Sentinel.

"My W. C. roommate, Mary Morris '46, flew to England last week to be married. Jimmy and I were in New York for the week and wished her a bon voyage."

Annette (Edwards) Clark is living in Elkin, where her husband, Dave, who finished State College in June, is associated with the Chatham Mfg. Co. Their daughter is eight months old.

Kathryn (Edwards) Montague, 323 E. Lane Street, Raleigh. "Bob and I have finally found an apartment here in Raleigh and we certainly are enjoying it. We have been in it about two months now and since that time Ebby Snow, Dorothy (Spears) Talley, and Ginny (Setzer) McLean, all of '46, have been to see us. Ginny brought her little girl with her. She is a little doll, too. There are quite a few W.C. girls here in Raleigh. In fact, Doris W. Batchelor '48, works in the office next to mine in the Agriculture Building. Bob has another year of school so we will be in Raleigh that much longer. If any of you are in Raleigh, do come by to see us."

Mary Louise Fink, 728 N. Church St., Salisbury, is working this summer in the Social Service Department of Duke Hospital and is continuing her studies toward an M.S.S.W. in psychiatric case work at U.N.C.

Mary (Hix) Dalton, 520 Haw Creek Road, Asheville, N. C.

Florence (Hoffman) Cohn, 188-20 A, 69th Avenue, Flushing, N. Y., wrote during July: "Seymour and I are living at the Fresh Meadow Development on Long Island. He works as a project engineer at the Sperry Gyroscope Company, and I'm becoming a veteran housewife. Toby (Propper) Cohen '46, spent a week-end with us along with her husband not too long ago."

Marilyn Jackson, 467 Avon Avenue, Newark, N. J. "I am now working for the Fleischmann division of Standard Brands in Hoboken. I would like to hear from some of my class mates."

Iris Marie Kiger began work July 18 as vocational home economics teacher in Mooresville. During her vacation she visited Annie Laurie Lowery '46 in Trenton and Peggy Wallace '46 in Asheville.

Elizabeth Laughridge, Columbia Hospital, Columbia, S. C. "I enjoyed very much the meeting with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Phillips and the Alumnae here in Columbia on January 30. It was nice to find out about the changes made at W. C. from Mr. Phillips, who gave us a picturesque description. I see 'Punkin' (Breedon) McLaurin '45, who lives here in Columbia, real often."

Jane (Linville) Joyner and her husband spent the summer at their home in Chapel Hill. He will be in medical school again this year and she plans to teach in Durham High School.

Margaret (Meares) Davenport, 2114 West Concho, San Angelo, Texas, has a son, Tommy, Jr., three, and her husband was elected county attorney last July. She served as secretary for the Girl Scout Association for five months last year.

Priscilla (Moore) Brinkley, 105 Trailwood, State College Station, Raleigh, is with the State Laboratory of Hygiene. Her husband is a senior at N. C. State College. She sent a picture of her cocker named Walter Clinton for Chancellor Jackson and says besides being one of the smartest, he has received quite a bit of publicity because of his name.

Mabel (Newlin) Michael writes from McConnellsburg, Pa.: "Being married to a minister is certainly one of the most exciting, interesting and varied kinds of a life I ever imagined. There's never a dull moment as Mark and I work together in all the organizations of the church, make personal contacts by visitation and entertaining as we try to stimulate interest in things beyond the local church."

Bettie Jane Owen, Gibsonville. "I have resigned my position as Director of Physical Education at Greensboro College in order to begin study on a Master's Degree. I have been accepted at New York University and expect to begin in September 1949. I am planning to do my major work in Modern Dance."

Lucy Ann (Pritchard) Park, Apartment 11B, 600 W. 113th St., New York City, writes: "The biggest thing in our life together so far—Bruce passed his oral matriculation examination for his Ph.D. in English on April 25, and now he's pursuing a dissertation topic through the Columbia University Libraries.

"I took over a new job in the Cataloging Department of same libraries, Supervisor of the Processing Unit, which turns out cards, adds copies, does all the other non-professional jobs in our huge department. It keeps me hopping every minute.

"But despite being so busy, we manage to get to things like Maxwell Anderson's Anne of the Thousand Days and the Ballet Theater. I also see quite a bit of some W. C. females who like this town as much as I do. Maxine Applewhite and Dorothy Gray (both '47) live in this same building, and Katharine Perar ('47) arrived last month and is working at Gouverneur Hospital. I saw Nancy Mullen at the Metropolitan opera, and Betsy Highsmith '46 behind the advisory counter of the drapery department at Bloomingdale's when we bought curtains for our one-room palace this spring."

Elaine (Rashkind) Lefkowitz's new address is 414 Graham Street, Highland Park, N. J.

Leigh (Richardson) Hicks, 111 W. Walker Ave., College Park, Ga., writes: "Harry is the assistant manager of the new Western Auto store in Marietta, Ga. We hated to give up our house, so he is commuting the 28 miles from College Park to Marietta daily. My son who is walking and beginning to talk occupies most of my time. We are hoping to get to Miami this summer to visit my mother and father-in-law. My own family has a nice cruiser up at Chicamauga Dam in Tennessee. This is part of the T.V.A. waterways and the scenery is beautiful. We plan some swell week-ends on the boat."

Frances Kittrell '46, with Delta Air Lines is still flying in and out of College Park, Ga. I also see Bootsie Webb '47, real often. I'm looking forward to August when Mary Cornelia (Bowen) Bruton '47, will drop in on her way to North Carolina from Florida."

Celia (Rothgeb) Webb. "My husband and I are moving to Roanoke, Va., the first of June. He will be doing his intern work in clinical psychology at the Veterans' Hospital there."

Helen Sanford, Norwood High School, Norwood, N. C. "As the director of dramatics in our school, I carried a one-act play to the Drama Festival in Chapel Hill this spring. We received an 'honorable mention'—not tops, but pretty nice for the first participation of this school in the Festival. Mary Belle Teague '48, received the same rating with her play from Kings Mountain."

Doris (Smith) Moffatt's new address is North Wilkesboro, N. C.

Marguerite Mildred (Smith) Wood writes from Dorchester, Mass. "We have been celebrating for the last week or so. Joe received his B.M. in Music June 6 from Boston University—what a class!—2970 in all. He starts his graduate work in September, but we are hoping to visit North Carolina before that time."

Angela Shell received her master of arts degree from Indiana University in June 1949.

Evelyn Ann Snow's new address is 1111 W. Market Street, Greensboro, N. C.

Mildred (Sternberger) Shavlan of Bristol, Tenn., with her 21-month-old daughter, Leslie Elizabeth, visited her parents in Greensboro in March.

Jean (Stockton) Piner, when she wrote in June, was living in Chapel Hill where her husband was in school.

Betty Jane (Sarratt) Cowan says she likes Miami very much. Their young daughter Jane, is seven months old "and getting cuter every day."

Zoe Swecker, Room 318, International House, 1414 E. 59th Street, Chicago 37, Illinois, wrote recently: "I have just passed the qualifying exams for the Ph.D. in the Department of History at the University of Chicago. I have decided not to take a master's degree. For the Ph.D., I still have 'prelims,' a dissertation and the final oral to go. At least three more years!"

K. Lucile Tegg wrote in May: "Our High Point music program had quite a bit of publicity in the April issue of the NCEA Journal. 'Just Stringing Along' is the article. One picture has my back in the foreground—probably the best picture I ever had taken."

Peggy Wallace works with the Department of Public Welfare in Asheville.

Mary Ruth Bodenheimer was Educational Director at the First Baptist Church in Sanford during the summer and expects to return to her teaching position in Winston-Salem September 1.

Frances Arnold Bowden. "I have just completed interesting and stimulating first year of teaching dance at Wilson College in Chambersburg, Pa., and plan to return again in the fall. This summer will bring additional study at the New York University and Conn. College School of Dance. Believe me, teaching is wonderful, especially in the beautiful mountains of Pennsylvania."

Margaret (Bradley) Quinn's, new address is Route 2, Gastonia, N. C.

Joy (Brandenburg) Stephens, who is in Oberstdorf, Germany, wrote in May: "This summer we expect to visit Holland, Belgium, France, and Switzerland. Oberammergau, the scene of the famous Passion Play, is about an hour's drive from where we live. We plan to see it when it's given next year. This Alpine country is really beautiful. You never get tired of looking at the mountains, for every day they look different. The village itself is very quaint. Most of the people dress Bavarian style—for the women, that is laced bodice and white apron over their dresses. The men wear short leather trousers supported by suspenders and Felt Tyrolean hats. Lots of local color here."

If anyone is contemplating a trip to Europe, stop in Oberstdorf and see us. We love to have visitors—and we'll be here until December 1951."

Susan Bumpass, Hampton House, Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, has completed her preclinical training and three months of psychiatric nursing. Frances A. Butler wrote in May: "I will be in Toule until school is out in the middle of July, and then plan to attend the summer session at the University of Grenoble until the end of September. From Grenoble, I hope to spend occasional week-ends with my sister, Joey '37, who is with the American Consulate in Geneva. We spent our Christmas holidays together in Switzerland. We had hoped to meet again for a trip to Italy at Easter, but Joey was unable to obtain leave at that time. However, I spent a beautiful Easter holiday frantically trying to absorb the marvels of Italy. But there is so much magnificence and so much beauty, one needs much more than 18 days."

Bettie Byers, 615 W. Bell Street, Statesville, is employed as payroll clerk and bookkeeper in the office of the Statesville Division, Seminole Mills, which is a branch of the United Merchants & Manufacturers of New York.

Linda Cloer's new address is 3504 Minnesota Ave., S. E., Washington 19, D. C.

Margaret V. Johnson, 319 S. Chapman, Greensboro, says: "I am engaged in personnel work with Sears, Roebuck & Company (retail) in Greensboro. Have interesting experiences every day—what with interviewing applicants, rendering first aid to employees and customers when they are injured, pinch-hitting for people all over the store—selling things I know nothing about. Enjoyed the reunion so much. 'Our particular flock' had a grand week-end together, our husbands and our fiances joining in the fun."

Bernice Kaplin says: "Although I am still a student at the New York School of Social Work, I am spending the summer as an immigration case-worker for the New York Section of the National Council of Jewish Women. Before starting my summer job, Jane Stone, class of '51, and I took a motor trip to Montreal and Quebec, where we had a most enjoyable time.

Elaine Pearlstein '46, Gladys Rosoff '47, and I are sharing an apartment in New York, where they are working also."

Helen (Kemp) Whitney, Eastern Manor Apts. B., 3219 Miller Ave., Baltimore, Md., writes that her husband is employed at the Army Chemical Center, Edgewood Arsenal, Md. He completed his industrial engineering course at V. P. I. in March.

Frances (Winston) Warren will move in September from Richmond, Va., to New Haven, Conn., where her husband will attend the Yale Graduate School of Traffic Engineering.

1948 Reunion

The 1948 luncheon, held in South Dining Hall, brought back memories as we stood in line again for the nice meal. The individual tables (which didn't stay individual long, as girls quickly pushed them together) were centered with large '48's cut from purple cardboard. Fran (Ashcraft) McBane and Margaret Johnson were in charge of arrangements.

After the luncheon, the class members gathered in North Spencer parlor for a meeting and get-together. Dr. Edna Arundel, our class chairman, spoke to the girls and told them how glad she was to see them all together again. She told them about her forthcoming summer trip out west and that she planned to look up any class members who had strayed out that way.

The girls gave greetings and news from the class members who were unable to attend. Page Coleman sent her regrets with news that she was just beginning new work. Ruth Gregory and Marge Smith were busy getting married, as were several other class members.

The main business of the meeting was business that brought a saddening effect. Many of the girls had asked about a possible memorial to Mary Fields Jones. It was brought up that the class had given flowers on Founder's Day in her memory, but the girls also wanted a permanent memorial. The motion was made and voted upon that the class president appoint a committee to decide upon a suitable memorial and that funds for this be secured by asking each class member to contribute at least a dollar to be used for the memorial, with any remaining amount being put into the class treasury.

With much well-wishing and promising to write, the first reunion meeting of the Class of '48—one considered quite successful by those in attendance—broke up.

Begin now making your plans to come back for our second reunion in 1950!

Betsy Bulluck,
Everlasting President.

DEVOE PAINTS

Featuring the
2-COAT SYSTEM

This Devoe 2-Coat System doesn't try to saddle or shirk. There are two definite jobs for outside paint to do, and Devoe does them. Each coat does its specific work. The first coat locks the pores of the wood like iron, seals it against sucking up life-giving oils. The second coat is built to laugh off ultra-violet sun rays and weather, still sparkles after several years.
